Money For Fair Reduced

Senate Nod To Emergency Appropriation

JEFFERSON CITY—(AP) — The Senate passed an emergency appropriation bill carrying about $8 million today but the House refused to accept Senate changes.

In the emergency appropriations bill the Senate approved the amount of $520,000 for State Fair grandstand improvements as compared to the $725,000 approved by the House.

Differences will be worked out in a conference committee.

The Senate restored $1,163,000 to add two floors to a new state office building being built in Kansas City. The House had approved $2 million for this purpose but the Senate Appropriations Committee had eliminated it entirely.

Also added was $325,000 to buy the Central Hotel buildings at the corner of High and Jefferson streets near the Capitol in Jefferson City. Sen. J. F. Patterson, D-Caruthersville, appropriations chairman, said the building can be bought from St. Louis owners for $321,400.

The Senate also tacked on $133,500 to match federal funds on a 50-50 basis to expand driver training programs in high schools. The money will go to local school districts to pay for the cost of training additional teachers.

It was adopted at the urging of Sen. A. Basey Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, and had been recommended by the governor's special advisory committee on traffic safety.

The House passed and sent to the Senate another bill to au-

Fire Rages Through Area Leaving At Least 26 Dead

Team Set Up To Assist In Identification Job

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A fire which began as tiny flickers in a cloakroom raced through a fashionable rooftop dining room in downtown Montgomery Tuesday nght, leaving at least 26 dead, including a former state official who was indicted Tuesday.

Identification was difficult because of the condition of the bodies, which were taken to four funeral homes. A police identification team assisted by FBI experts was set up to help establish the identification.

Water poured from the blackened ruins of Dale's Penthouse restaurant atop the 11-story Walter Bragg Smith apartment hotel froze on the sidewalks and streets in the wintry 28-degree night, making it treacherous for firemen and police to move about. A city maintenance truck spread sand over the icy coating.

A spokesman at one funeral home said positive identification had been made of the bodies of former Public Service Commissioner Ed Pepper and his wife Ann. The Peppers were dining with friends at the plush cafe when the fire started about 11 p.m.

Pepper was indicted on two counts of extortion Tuesday by a federal grand jury at Birmingham. The indictments charged he "obstructed and delayed the transportation of goods and commodities in interstate commerce" while a PSC member. A third indictment was brought against Pepper last November by the grand jury.

Also missing was Mrs. Jack Doane, wife of the sports editor of the Montgomery Advertiser. She was a hostess at the dining room. Accompanied by other Advertiser reporters, Doane,

Plane Down At Beginning Of Truce

Some Shooting Incidents Seen In South Vietnam

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A U.S. photo reconnaissance plane was downed in North Vietnam and more than a score of shooting incidents were reported in South Vietnam following the start of the lunar new year truce today.

Most of the incidents were small, and both sides appeared disposed to hold their fire.

The American reconnaissance plane went down at noon, five hours after the truce took effect, and presumably was the victim of Communist groundfire. The pilot bailed out and a U.S. destroyer rescued him from the Gulf of Tonkin 15 miles north of Dong Hoi.

It was the 472nd U.S. plane reported lost over North Vietnam.

Of 22 incidents reported by the U.S. and South Vietnamese military commands in the first 10 hours of the truce, eight were classified as significant. Most were exchanges of fire by patrols or sniper fire at helicopters.

The U.S. Command said the plane lost in the north was an unarmed RF101 jet on a photo mission. The United States has suspended bombing missions against North Vietnam for the four-day truce period but is continuing reconnaissance patrols.

On the Communist side, the truce was declared only by the Viet Cong. Thus North Vietnam feels free to fire on planes in-

Conditions For Russian Peace Help

Ready To Assist When US Stops Bombing the North

LONDON (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin said today the Soviet Union is ready to help in the search for peace in Vietnam after the United States unconditionally ceases bombing North Vietnam.

Addressing a banquet in his honor, the Soviet leader also said the people of his country were watching with "legitimate alarm" what he called the rise of extreme right-wing nationalism in West Germany.

Kosygin demanded that the United States withdraw from Vietnam to permit the Vietnamese people "to resolve their own affairs without outside interference."

He said this was "the sole, just and logical basis of solving the problem."

It was not clear from his remarks whether he was making U.S. withdrawal a condition for the start of peace talks.

He said the Soviet Union and other countries which he did not name "can make their contribution" to a Vietnam settlement. But this must be based, he said, on the Geneva agreement of 1954 which divided up the French colony of Indochina into the two Vietnams, Laos and Cambodia.

The first step toward any settlement, Kosygin said, "should be the unconditional termination of the American bombing" of North Vietnam.

Kosygin indicated, however, that European security is foremost in his mind in his talks with Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Open Mind To Extending Cease Fire

Cong, North Viets Declare a Longer New Year's Truce

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States apparently is keeping an open mind to the possibility of extending the four-day lunar new year cease-fire that began today in Vietnam.

Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, declined to speculate Tuesday on whether the truce might be extended. He said "we will see what happens" if the Communist guns remain silent at the end of the four-day period.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have called for a seven-day truce. The United States and South Vietnam have agreed so far only on the shorter period.

Meanwhile, U. S officials — responding to a story written for The Associated Press by Australian Communist Wilfred Burchett — said they want reciprocal action from North Vietnam in exchange for a stop to the bombing of the north.

Burchett, who has been a spokesman for the Communists in various situations in East Berlin, Korea and Vietnam, said in a story from Cambodia that Hanoi is ready to enter preliminary talks to find a peace formula — but only if the United States halts all war actions against North Vietnam, including its bombing attacks.

At Vatican City, Pope Paul VI appealed to the United States and to North and South Vietnam, in messages to their leaders, to turn the current lull into negotiations for peace.

Plane Carrying MU Football Coach Stops With Nose on Ground

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A University of Missouri plane carrying head football coach Dan Devine came to rest on its nose at Municipal Airport today during an emergency landing.

No one was injured.

The retractable landing gear at the nose of the twin-engine plane failed to descend just before the landing.

Pilot Don Stout of Columbia notified the tower of the difficulty. He made one pass over the field and landed on a grassy surface.

The landing was smooth, but when the plane slowed down, the weight brought the nose section to the ground. The nose section and propellers of the plane were damaged.

The co-pilot of the Cessna 310 was Michael Scalise, St. Louis.

Devine was to make connections here for another flight. He was on the first leg of a recruiting trip.

Heart Queen Crowning On Feb. 18

The Queen of the "Queen of Hearts" Ball will be crowned at 8:30 Saturday, Feb. 18 at the Agriculture Building, State Fair Grounds.

This is a special event for the February Heart Fund Drive, under the sponsorship of the Rho Tau Chapter 2932 of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority and Mrs. Nyra Price, Special Events Chairman for Pettis County Heart Council.

Four high schools in Pettis County are competing for placing the Queen of Hearts.

The queen will be determined by the votes received from ticket sales to the Heart Ball by the student body of each participating school. Ticket sales started Feb. 1 and will close at the end of the school day on Feb. 15.

Mrs. Nyra Price, in behalf of the Sorority, expressed appreciation for businesses and individuals cooperating with them in making plans for the ball, and in contributing gifts and items to be used to make it a special event.

Music for the group will be furnished by the "Fourth Dimensions." Mrs. C. C. DeLozier will furnish organ music for the coronation, and William H. Hall, Industrial Director for the City of Sedalia, will be Master of Ceremonies. Harry Walch, Pettis County Heart Fund Chairman, will crown the Queen at the coronation.

Pope Paul Leads Way Into Lenten Season

VATICAN CITY (AP) — His head marked with ashes as a symbol of man's humility, Pope Paul VI today led the world's half-billion Roman Catholics into the annual Lenten season of penitence and prayer.

The pontiff received the ash smudge at the confessional altar in St. Peter's before a crowd of several thousands gathered for his weekly general audience.

In receiving the ashes, traditional symbol of penitence, Catholics are reminded by the administering priest: remember man that you are dust and unto dust must return.

Intensify Anti-Soviet Campaign

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung's forces intensified their anti-Soviet campaign today with hostile demonstrations in a dozen Chinese cities and new orders for fighting the Kremlin's brand of communism.

The official New China News Agency said demonstrations were held throughout mainland China to emphasize "China's mounting protest against the Soviet revisionists' outrages."

The Peking correspondent of the Japanese newspaper Yomiuri said Mao had issued instructions for setting up in the Red capital a "liaison station for struggling against revisionism" — China's label for the Soviet brand of communism.

The Maoists also gave new evidence of trouble in their own ranks with a warning to the faithful to be on the alert against a "palace coup" or an "armed coup."

The "Red Guard's Forum" of the Kwangming Daily said Mao's followers have "been retaking one after another of the positions of power held by a handful of party people taking the capitalist road" but cautioned that the victories would stir attempts at a "counterseizure of power."

Orbiter 3 Will Meet Moon Today

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Lunar Orbiter 3 meets the moon today to begin a circling search for the best landing spots on the rough lunar surface for U.S. astronauts.

"The spacecraft encounters the moon at 5 p.m. (EST) today," a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said. "That's when we plan the deboost maneuver."

The deboost — a short snort from the craft's 100-pound thrust rocket — will slow it down enough to trap the 850-pound vehicle in an oblong orbit around the moon, scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said.

The spacecraft is the third model of the Lunar Orbiter sent to the moon to photograph landing sites. Lunar Orbiter 2 is still in orbit around the moon after sending back excellent photos of the lunar surface. Lunar Orbiter 1 was deliberately crashed on the moon.

The task of the third spacecraft is to photograph a dozen possible landing sites that may be smooth enough for astronauts to land. Under study are photographs of millions of square miles of lunar surface taken by the earlier Orbiters.

High Scout Membership On Birthday

On its 57th anniversary, Wednesday, Feb. 8, the Boy Scouts of America reached an all-time high in active membership with 5,831,541 boys and adult leaders enrolled. Thirteen Eagle Scouts are making a Report to the Nation to President Johnson today.

Eight Eagle Scouts representing 110,000 Scouts in the state of Missouri, are making a report to Governor Warren E. Hearnes, the State Senators, and the House of Representatives in our Capitol also on Wednesday, February 8.

Word of the membership record achieved last Nov. 31, was received by John H. Pohl, President of the Lake of the Ozarks Council, Boy Scouts of America. The Lake of the Ozarks Council, with headquarters in Jefferson City, Mo., serving 11 counties of Central Missouri, led the nation in expanding its membership with a 16.4 per cent gain over December, 1965.

The 57th anniversary of Scouting will be celebrated in each community with Cub Packs, Scout Troops, and Explorer Posts conducting special Blue and Gold Banquets, Courts of Honor, Family Nights, and other events which will enable them to earn the special Boy Scout Week Honor Ribbon.

Six thousand boys and leaders are now actively enrolled in Scouting in the Lake of the Ozarks Council area.

Scouting is one of the many agencies receiving benefits through participation in the Jefferson City-Cole County United Community Fund, and the Sedalia-Pettis County United Community Fund.

Far-Ranging Program To Aid Youths

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson outlined today a far-ranging program to aid youths and children, including a strengthen Head Start program and increased Social Security payments for children.

In a special message to Congress, Johnson said recent studies have confirmed that in education, in health and in all human development, the early years are critical.

"Ignorance, ill health, personality disorder — these are the disabilities often contracted in childhood: afflictions which linger to cripple the man and damage the next generation," Johnson added.

Most of Johnson's proposals are designed to help children disadvantaged by reason of poverty.

The first item of his program calls for strengthening the Head Start program.

He said he will ask for money to launch a "follow through" program during the first few school grades for children in areas of acute poverty.

This is designed to meet criticism from many educators who say the present preschool program is too short and benefits are soon lost when disadvantaged children enter regular schools.

Johnson also said the Head Start program will be more beneficial if extended to earlier years, and recommended that the number of 3-year-olds taken into it be increased.

Furthermore, he said he will recommend that the Office of Economic Opportunity set up a pilot program to explore the effectiveness of the Head Start program on even younger children.

Johnson also recommended legislation for a pilot program to provide school lunch benefits to needy preschoolers through Head Start and similar programs.

Passengers Unaware Of Hijacking

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The hijacking of an Egyptian air liner over the Red Sea went so smoothly that most of the passengers aboard did not realize what had happened, some of the passengers told newsmen today.

There was no panic — or even excitement — in the passengers' cabin.

"Most of us didn't know what was happening," said Norah MacKendrick, 60, a Canadian tourist. "Everything was carried off very coolly and without any fuss at all."

The plane was forced to divert to the Jordanian Red Sea port of Aqaba by an Egyptian, Riyad Kamal Hajjaj, who defected to Jordan.

The 41 persons aboard, including Miss MacKendrick and three Germans, were brought to Amman. All but Hajjaj are scheduled to return to Cairo aboard the same plane.

The Russian-built Antonov was on a flight from Cairo to the Egyptian Red Sea resort of Hurghada, 350 miles south of Suez. It had been scheduled to go on to Luxor before making the return trip.

"I didn't feel there was anything wrong about the flight. You see, I have not done much flying," said Miss MacKendrick, who is from Galt, Ont. She is on an extended Middle East tour.

Other passengers reported they saw a man enter the cockpit after the plane had passed Suez and then heard him dump luggage behind the door.

Legislator May Live Outside His District

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Atty. Gen. Norman H. Anderson has ruled that because of legislative reapportionment a legislator may live outside of his district so long as he resides in his own county.

But the ruling applies only to the 1967 session. Next time, candidates must file in the districts where they live.

Republicans had challenged the right of eight St. Louis legislators to serve because they live outside their districts.

On Friday

Sedalia, Area Churches In World Day of Prayer

The World Day of Prayer, sponsored by the Sedalia Council of Church Women, of which Mrs. James Callis is president, will be held at 10:30 a.m. Friday, at the Calvary Episcopal Church, Broadway and Ohio.

Participating will be the Rev. William Lusk, rector of the Calvary Episcopal Church; the Rev. Clifford Saunders, pastor of the Congregational - Presbyterian Church; and the following from the Sedalia Council of Church Women: Mrs. Donald Barnes, Reorganized Church of the Latter Day Saints; Miss Marion Phipps, Calvary Episcopal Church; Mrs. George M. Alcorn, Goodwill Chapel Methodist; Mrs. E. Wesley Beavers, Quinn Chapel A. M. E., Mrs. Lou Harris, First Christian Church; Mrs. Lyman Parks, Wards Memorial Baptist; and Mrs. Mary Williams, Burns Chapel Freewill Baptist.

Mrs. James T. Atkinson will be the organist and Mrs. Robert Seelan, soloist, both of Calvary Episcopal Church.

Mrs. M. O. Stevens of the First Christian Church is music chairman and Mrs. Robert Quigg, Broadway Presbyterian, in charge of the publicity.

The World Day of Prayer is observed each year on the First Friday of Lent. With a meaningful history dating from 1887, it has traditionally brought people together across denominational, racial, national and cultural boundaries to pray for the needs of the world and to make an offering for carrying out the Church's mission around the world.

Beginning with the services in Tonga Islands of the South Pacific, it will encircle the globe, 127 countries and territories, joining together in a prayer chain.

The theme this year is "Of His kingdom there shall be no end." This service of prayer and worship was prepared by Queen Salote Tupou of Tonga Islands, which she had ruled for 47 years when she wrote the service just before her death in 1965. A Christian woman, she knew she had only a few months to live. The prayer service embraces praise and thanksgiving, supplication for forgiveness, and entirety for God's help for all who suffer and for all who are working toward making a better world.

The Women of the Houstonia Methodist Church and Range Line Presbyterian Church are planning the World's Day of Prayer for the northern part of Pettis County to be held Friday at the Range Line Church, four miles west of Highway 65 on Route CC, at 10:30 a.m.

A panel discussion will be held and all the ministers of the area have been invited to discuss questions on the Ecumenical Movement. The congregations of those churches have also been invited.

A covered dish luncheon will be held at noon with the regular World Day of Prayer Service at 1:30 p.m.

No barriers of race, denomination or culture are recognized when women come together for this prayer day, which has a history of nearly 80 years.

Goldwater To Speak

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Barry Goldwater, the Republican nominee for president in 1964, will speak at the University of Missouri Feb. 21.

The appearance of the former Arizona senator is sponsored by Student Activities.

Moniteau Extension Officials Elected

Harold Gerhart was elected chairman of the Moniteau County University Extension Council at its organizational meeting Monday night, Feb. 6.

Other newly elected officers were: Donald Ratcliff, vice chairman, and Mrs. Hugh Alexander, secretary. Donald Strobel was reelected treasurer.

The oath of office was administered to the officers by Judge Fred Scheurer representing County Clerk, Marvin Phillips.

Following the election of officers, Bill Riley, County Extension Director, discussed duties and responsibilities of extension council members.

College Enrollment Is Up Eight Percent

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Enrollment for the spring semester at Southwest Missouri State College is up eight per cent over the spring session of last year.

Lyle Leisenring, director of admissions and records, said the enrollment now is 5,120, compared with 4,741 last year. The college's resident center at West Plains has an enrollment of 149.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teen-age girl who is sick and tired of hearing what kind of girls BOYS like or don't like. Every time you pick up a magazine there's an article that says, "Boys don't like girls who wear heavy eye make-up and fancy hair-dos," or "Boys don't like girls who order the most expensive thing on the menu." Even in your column, a few weeks ago you said, "Boys don't like girls who call them on the telephone."

Why doesn't somebody say something about the kind of boys GIRLS don't like for a change? I have a few suggestions:

Girls don't like boys who drive like maniacs to show they aren't afraid or anything — including death and murder.

Girls don't like boys who cuss and tell rotten jokes to prove they are grown-up.

Girls don't like a boy who is sweet as honey when they are alone together but whenever anyone else is around the girl gets the drop-dead treatment.

Be a lamb and print my letter. I'd like to see it in the paper and so would a million other teen-age girls.—PATSY.

Dear Patsy: O.K. I'm a lamb and here's your letter.

Dear Ann Landers: A group of us were watching TV the other night and, lo and behold, we saw a dog who said, "I love you" and "I am a chihuahua." My friends insisted that it was a fake—that somebody behind the scene was doing the talking. I said I was sure it was no fake because I once knew a woman who had a poodle that had been taught to say, "I want to go outside."

My friends looked at me as if I had lost my mind. They insist I am a liar or my imagination is playing tricks on me. I am very annoyed by their accusations because I know very well I heard that dog say, "I want to go outside"—not once, but many times. I've been ridiculed so much that I'm beginning to doubt my sanity. Please tell me if you have ever heard of a talking dog.—B. FUDDLED.

Dear B.: Dogs can be taught to imitate sounds but they do not know what they are saying. If you want to call this "talking," go ahead. After listening to some supposedly bright people lately, I prefer the dogs.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I both work and we have a better than average income. We have a nice home and lovely furniture but he makes a federal case of it every time I want to buy a stick of furniture or even a one-dollar knick-knack. If it were up to him we wouldn't have any rugs or curtains. Yet he plays poker once a week and his losses are considerable. I feel that my husband should either stop playing poker or keep quiet about my "extravagance." We both read your column every day and it might help if he sees himself in print.—MIXED DEAL.

Dear Deal: Every wife, even one who DOESN'T have a paycheck of her own, should be able to spend a few dollars on whatever she pleases—provided, of course, her husband is employed. Stand pat, woman. This is one hand no wife can afford to lose.

Confidential to: Am I Normal?: How do I know? You might be normal in some respects and wacky in others. Most people are. Your feeling about the man you describe are intense to say the least, but I would not call these feelings abnormal.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Says North Awaits US Liberation

NEW YORK (AP)—A former Canadian diplomat says that, while he was serving in Hanoi, many North Vietnamese told him they hoped the United States would "liberate" them from the "tyranny and oppression" of their government.

The diplomat, Theodore B. Blockley, was an officer of the International Control Commission for Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Writing in the magazine, Modern Age, he reports:

"Many of the North Vietnamese whom I met expressed the hope that one day the Americans would 'again' liberate them from tyranny and oppression. The previous liberation, in their minds, was from the Japanese."

(Japanese armies occupied Vietnam and the rest of Indochina during World War II.)

The control commission was set up under the 1954 Geneva agreement that ended the fighting between the French and Vietnamese. It has three delegations—Indian, Canadian and Polish. Its function is to see to it that both South and North Vietnam comply with the terms of the 1954 agreement.

The control commission not only was impotent but a "fraud," said Blockley, writing of his experience with the commission.

The word, "control," he writes, "was the height of irony —the commission had no control over anything, not even its own transport."

As early as 1957, the diplomat said, he reported to his government about "the mounting intensity of North Vietnamese sabotage, subversion and guerrilla operations in South Vietnam, and the apparent inability of the commission to inhibit this attack."

Murville Runs Into Disinterest

PARIS (AP) — He's one of the world's leading diplomats but Maurice Couve de Murville is finding his neighbors aren't much interested in his job.

For the first time in his many years in government, Couve de Murville, 60, is trying to be elected a deputy in Parliament. He's running from the Left Bank district where he has had an apartmen for 34 years. The Foreign Ministry, which he heads, is located there, too.

The campaign doesn't officially open until Monday, but Couve de Murville has already set up two electioneering offices in the district and has been holding private meetings.

After one session where the voters were invited to ask questions, a reporter asked him if there had been any quesions about foreign policy. Couve de Murville laughed and said, "No. Nothing. They asked about almost everything else, including what the stock market was going to do."

A photographer following Couve de Murville on a walking, handshaking tour asked a woman with a small dog to pose with the candidate. She did but she asked the photographer after Couve de Murville strolled on "Why did you want that man in the picture?" She had no idea who he was.

Couve de Murville is running for an office that he doesn't want and a seat he will never occupy. If he were elected and were asked to continue as foreign minister, as everyone would expect, he would resign from the National Assembly and leave the seat to his replacement, elected on the same ticket.

Under the Fifth Republic, an alternate for each deputy is elected at the same time as the deputy. The alternate takes the seat if the deputy leaves the assembly for any reason. The constitution also says a person cannot be a minister and a deputy at the same time. Hence, a deputy must resign from the assembly to take a Cabinet post and his alternate becomes the assemblyman.

Couve de Murville hesitated a long time before he entered the electoral arena. But he insists there was no pressure from President Charles de Gaulle.

De Gaulle was anxious to have Cabinet members out defending his policies, especially the most important men, in order to strengthen the New Republic —UNR— party. The president feels that a Gaullist majority in Parliament is vital to his continued efforts to remake the French political scene.

Couve de Murville is favored to win. However, he is a Protestant of Huguenot origin, running in a heavily Catholic district.

The election will be held March 5 and March 12.

EAST WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—Merritt Duane Francies is finally getting his Distinguished Flying Cross for helping down a German spotter plane with pistol fire near the end of World War II.

Francies' recommendation for the DFC got lost in the confusion at the end of the war. Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., learned recently that the award had never been made.

The senator informed Francies' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Francies, Monday that the commanding general of the 5th Army would make the presentation in Chicago.

Francies now lives in Keokuk, Iowa.

NEW YORK (AP)—George Szell conducted Beethoven's great "Missa Solemnis" without an intermission Monday night in Carnegie Hall as the first of the season's offerings by the Cleveland Symphony.

The big score was an hour and 18 minutes, and there was no intermission to shatter the mood. Critics said the idea, presumably Szell's, was a wonderful one.

LIBERAL, Kan. (AP)—Corky Wilson, 13, suffered his usual bad luck Monday in a bid for the junior division championship of the annual pancake eating contest in Liberal, Kan.

Corky and Larry Williams, 15, each ate 24 pancakes, then flipped a coin for the title. Williams won the toss.

The same thing happened to Corky last year when he tied for first at 21 cakes, only to lose on the toss of the coin.

Larry Igou, 25, won the senior division by eating 32 pancakes.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The unlimited possibilities of the art of animation are being demonstrated these weekends at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

"Projected art" from nations of the world is the subject of a new exhibit showing here prior to moving to the Museum of Modern Art in New York. The exhibition represents a growing realization that the movie cartoon, once a program filler, can achieve distinction as art.

But animation, being hand-created is an enormously expensive medium. Producers reasoned that they had to aim for surefire entertainment. So the principal output became the senseless violence ofthe "Tom and Jerry" ilk or the talky, slow-moving "Flintstones."

But in recent times artists in such places as Canada, Japan, France and Czechoslovakia, most of them working with subsidies, have been pushing the animated art to new limits. The International Society of Film Animators was formed to sponsor film festivals and exhibitions.

One of the leaders is Ward Kimball, veteran Disney animator.

Kimball admitted the society had trouble convincing the Los Angeles County Museum on the efficacy of an exhibition of animated art last year. But after curator Henry T. Hopkins viewed some of the entries, he agreed that they were worthy of an exhibition.

Results: Last year's weekend of showings drew turnaway crowds. This year 15 performances were scheduled to handle the audience.

Last Saturday's matinee was well attended by a group that ranged from sandaled beatniks to moppets like Caroline Thomas, 8. The two extremes seemed to enjoy the offerings equally well, demonstrating the universality of the animated form.

The first offering was a "Tribute to Walt Disney" — his first cartoon with synchronized sound "Steamboat Willie." Miss Thomas and others of her generation squealed with delight at the primitive gags. Even the bohemians applauded at the end, perhaps considering the 1928 cartoon to be high camp.

Complaint Is Filed

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Council on Human Relations said Tuesday a complaint charging discriminatory hiring practices has been filed against the Jobs Corps Center for Women in St. Louis.

William Decatur, the council's executive secretary, said Mrs. Austin Wright and Mrs. Blanche Tatum alleged none of the top 11 jobs is held by a Negro and only one of the top 14 assistants is a Negro.

W. M. Harlow, deputy director of the center, issued a statement saying 51 per cent of the employes are Negroes and 32 per cent of the professional jobs are held by Negroes.

Decatur said members of the council and officials of the job center will meet soon to discuss the complaint.

Guard Duty May End As Leaves Fall

By BOB GASSAWAY

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. military planners are hopeful that defoliation of the demilitarized zone dividing the two Vietnams will release about 3,000 American and South Vietnamese troops from guard duty along the strip.

Official spokesmen disclosed in Saigon that twin-engine C123s equipped with special gear started flying over the zone Sunday spraying chemicals that kill vegetation.

U.S. troop commanders want to clear away the dense foliage in the southern half of the 6-mile-by-40-mile zone so that Communist activities in the area can be observed more easily.

The principal objective, military sources said, is to enable the allies to make drastic reductions in the 5,000 troops now in static defensive positions along the zone.

Tacticians reason that if the trees can be denuded, observation of the zone can be handled by aerial observers. Then troops now blocking Red infiltration routes could be reduced to less than 2,000.

This smaller ground contingent would be in perhaps half a dozen central points available for rapid movement by helicopter should reconnaisance disclose enemy troops headed into South Vietnam.

The airstrip at Dong Ha, an American operational command post just 10 miles south of the zone, is one of the keys to the plan. On some days last summer the little dirt field handled more than 1,200 takeoffs and landings. Last October a hard surface was put on the field to make it usable in all weather.

The planners also hope increased observation will make large-scale bombing in the zone unnecessary. If the Communists are subject to constant scrutiny, some officers feel they won't be likely to keep building the base camps and utilizing the troop staging areas that have been the targets of 41 raids by B52 bombers since last July 30 and many more attacks by smaller tactical jets.

Cotton Council Head

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Raymond E. Blair of Bakersfield, Calif., was elected president of the National Cotton Council Tuesday at the council's 29th annual meeting.

The council is the central organization of the raw cotton industry and represents producers, ginners, cottonseed crushers, merchants, warehousemen and cotton cooperatives from 18 states.

Missouri-Illinois — E.F. Verdel, Hayti, Mo., chairman; Victor E. Downing, Bragg City, Mo., vice chairman; A. J. Mathews, III, Kennett, Mo., secretary.

Lutheran Women Hold Meeting

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Sedalia, held its quarterly meeting on Thursday evening, Jan. 19, in the basement of the Educational Building.

Mrs. Maxine Bottcher, president, called the meeting to order. The Rev. Walter F. Strickert, led the members in a devotion based on the world-wide mission program of the church.

Mrs. Shirley Bergmann, Christian Growth chairman showed a film-strip depicting the Lutheran Mission Work of the church in Argentina, a South American country. Mrs. Margie Buchholz assisted in the presentation by narrating the film-strip. After the presentation it was decided to present the film-strip to the church library.

Mrs. Fred Hoos was welcomed as a new member.

The following circle chairman gave their quarterly reports: Mrs. Ardell Bergmann, Elizabeth Circle; Mrs. Jean Harsch, Eunice Circle; Mrs. Ann Viets, Rachel Circle; Mrs. Laverne Monsees, Rebekah Circle and Mrs. Helen Kreisedl, Rhoda Circle.

Prayer service will be held Friday, Feb. 10, in the sanctuary of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. The final arrangements for this service are being made by the Christian Growth committee.

Mrs. Emma Davis led the Mite Box devotions after which refreshments were served by the Elizabeth Circle.

Women Express Real Wish About Changes In Make-Up

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Why is it so many women today say they would like to be men but so few men say they would like to be women?

When a woman remarks that, if she were reborn, she would prefer to be male, she is expressing a real desire, an actual envy.

But when a man expresses a supposed yearning to be reborn as a woman, he is only kidding.

He is probably one of those uncouth husbands who have a fixed idea that women live an easy life. He thinks that, after sending their husbands off to work with a pat on the back and a peck on the cheek, wives just sit on the sofa with their feet on the cocktail table and sip coffee and gossip until noon.

However, whether wives really do or don't live the life of Mrs. Riley, few husbands would be willing to change places with them.

In his heart of hearts the average man feels sorry for the other sex. He rather wonders how women can stand being women. He is silently grateful that he is not one of them—and never will be.

Why not?

Well, he realizes that despite women's quest for equal rights, they still dwell in a world in which their real freedoms are ruthlessly rationed. A woman can't even scratch herself in public without becoming an object of immediate criticism and the verdict, "She's no lady."

That goal—the desire to act like and be treated like a lady—still makes of womanhood a serfdom in skirts.

A man can act directly in almost any situation. He lives in a clearcut world of "yes" or "no." But a woman must achieve most of her aims by indirection, and dwells in a world made up of "maybes."

At a party, though she be dying of pneumonia and a blizzard is sweeping through an open window, she cannot rise and shut it. At the most she can but inquire meekly, "Does anyone feel a draft?"

As a result of this kind of feminine talk, men have the idea that they are honest and women are hyprocritical. They don't realize that women aren't born hyprocrites; women become hypocrites to please men who want them to be ladylike.

The real reason men prefer to be men is that they can escape the prisonership of themselves. They can forget their own identity in their work. A woman rarely can. She is always and eternally self-aware.

A man can get up, shower, shave and dress and be on his way in a few minutes.

Not a woman. Every part of her requires her brooding close attention. She must do her fingernails, annoint her body, roll on a deodorant, slap on rouge and lipstick, gird up her girdle, put perfume behind her ears, brush goo on her eyelids, and spray something on her hair that will make it look and feel like wire.

She is never through doing some kind of salvage operation on herself. All day long she must keep peeking into a mirror to be sure she is still there—the real her.

And that's why no man really wants to be a woman. He can't stand the thought of being that much of a nuisance to himself. And he wonders why women don't seem to mind it at all. They actually seem to enjoy being a nuisance to themselves.

Taking animals with her to bring children a personal glimpse of nature, she makes field trips to schools, churches, settlement houses and other organizations in the New York City area. Miss Henley, editor of ASPCA's just-published "Guide to Dog Care," reaches some 128,000 children a year via the Arkmobile.

Arrow Rock Improvement Is Scheduled

The Board of Directors of the Arrow Rock Lyceum Theatre, Missouri's pioneer repertory theatre, located in historic Arrow Rock, Mo., today announced plans to raise funds for an expansion and development program.

Lloyd E. Geiger, Sr., of Boonville, general manager of the Lyceum's Building Expansion Committee, said today that a goal of $29,000 has been set for the purchase of the existing building and grounds by the Lyceum cooperation, and to finance the construction of an addition to the present structure.

Improvements planned in conjunction with the project are terraced seating, central air conditioning, adequate public rest rooms, adequate stage, storage, dressing areas, and a 50% expansion of the present seating capacity.

With these improvements the quality of Lyceum productions will be improved, and more and more people will be attracted to visit in our community." Geiger said.

Sub-chairmen of the building expansion committee, as announced by Mr. Geiger, are: Mr. and Mrs. Baker Browning, Carrollton, chairman advanced gifts; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hayob, Marshall, chairman of general solicitation, Mr. and Mrs. William Van Arsdale, Napton, chairman of direct mail and publicity; and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Johns, Marshall, advisor.

Other members of the committee are: Mr. and Mrs. David Eads, Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wayne Elsea, Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Van Dyke, Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cullers, Trenton, Mr. Lakenan and Miss Marjorie Barnes, Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Swanson, Kirkwood, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Blackwell, St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney B. Cutright, Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Steinman, Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Marshall, Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. George Clay, Buckner, Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Soper, Slater, Dr. and Mrs. John R. Lawrence, Arrow Rock, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibbs, Marshall, secretary.

"The Lyceum is committed to provide audiences with the finest theatrical entertainment possible. The enlarged facility will increase our production resources and potential, advancing the theatre toward our aspiration to be the very best," Geiger said.

Tax-Sharing Only Way To Pay New Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford, in what seems likely to become the GOP response to most new federal aid proposals, says the best way to finance a nationwide war on crime is by federal tax-sharing.

President Johnson asked Congress Monday for federal spending of $50 million next year and perhaps $300 million in 1969 to help states and cities fight crime.

But Ford said "a portion of federal revenue rebated to the states could be used in combination with state and local funds to greatly expand and improve local law enforcement and sharply reduce crime rates across the nation."

The GOP leader previously has called for financing federal aid-to-education by a tax-sharing measure under which 3 per cent of federal income tax revenue would be returned to the states with no strings attached.

House Democratic Leader Carl B. Albert urged "speedy enactment" of Johnson's proposals which he called "an ambitious program which will move the attack against crime forward on many fronts."

But Ford issued a statement in which he said Johnson's message "focuses on a number of important problem areas but neglects some key points."

He renewed his call for legislation aimed at persons who cross state boundaries trying to incite violence and criticized Johnson's recommendations on wiretapping and firearms, signaling what is expected to be strong opposition in Congress to the two proposals.

The President urged the outlawing of all wiretapping, public and private, except in the interest of national security. He renewed his call for enactment of a law aimed at mail order sales of firearms which he has proposed several times since President John F. Kennedy was killed by a mail order rifle.

Otterville Garden Club Holds Meeting

Mrs. W. H. McKnight, assisted by Mrs. Leo J. Smith, was hostess at the January meeting of the Otterville Garden Club on Jan. 28.

A dessert luncheon was served to 11 members and one visitor, Mrs. T. E. Wear. Roll call was answered by "How I Plan To Improve My Perennial Border."

Mrs. Lewis Smith gave the devotions. The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Lewis Leaton.

Mrs. Leo Smith, program chairman, gave a report on the year book and activities for the year and commended Mrs. Mary Folkert and her students for the work they had done on the year book.

Embassy Is Visited By Chinese Mob

MOSCOW (AP) — Shouting Chinese mobs demonstrated outside the Soviet Embassy in Peking for the 12th straight day today, trapping Soviet employes inside the building, the Czechoslovak news agency C.T.K. reported from the Chinese capital.

C.T.K. said the Chinese Foreign Ministry warned Monday night that the "safety of Soviet citizens outside the embassy cannot be ensured."

The agency said Polish and Czechoslovak diplomats came to the aid of the embattled embassy staff today, driving their cars through the embassy gates with difficulty to bring them food.

C.T.K. said the new outburst of rioting followed a fairly quiet night. Soviet diplomats who had been detained in a bus for several hours by angry mobs Monday were finally allowed to enter their embassy. The diplomats were returning from the airport where planes evacuated their families amid more angry demonstrations.

The embassy staff repaired the iron entrance gate which was broken during Monday's rioting and reinforced it with a chain.

Rampaging Red Guards, retaliating against the roughing up by Soviet police of Chinese students and embassy employes in Moscow, hanged Soviet leaders in effigy. Tadashi Nogami, Peking correspondent for the big Japanese paper Asahi Shimbun, said the demonstrations were "really ferocious" but he did not think they would lead to a diplomatic break between China and the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union and Poland, which said its ambassador to Peking was insulted during the airport outburst, filed angry protestests.

Nogami said the Peking demonstrations appeared out of control but that there was some sort of order because leaders circulated among the crowds issuing instructions.

The official New China News Agency reported that about 40,000 Maoists held an anti-Soviet demonstration in Urumchi, the capital of Sinkiang Province bordering the Soviet Union, where considerable opposition to Mao has been reported.

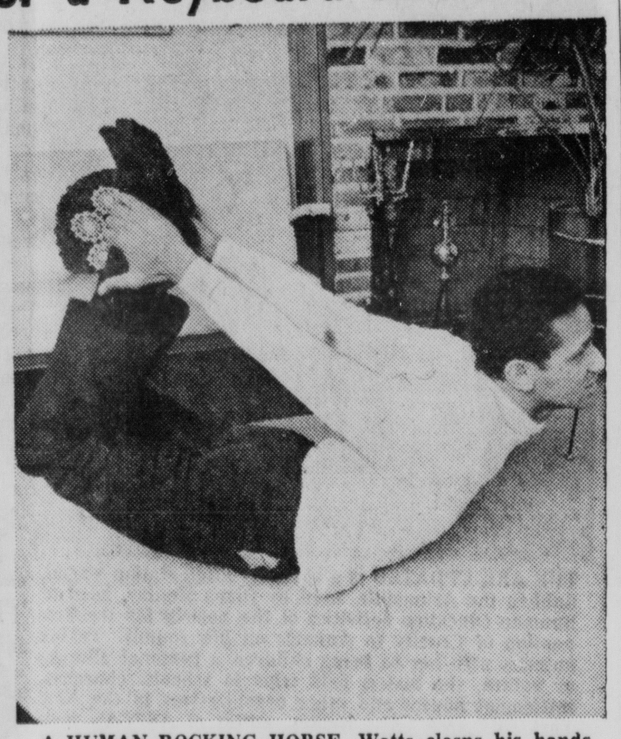
The agency said anti-Soviet demonstrations also took place in the Ili and Ining Districts of Sinkiang.

Reports of developments in the power struggle between Mao Tse-tung and President Liu Shao-chi were scarce today. Peking radio said a company of army troops loyal to Mao had to be called on to dislodge spear-throwing anti-Maoists holed up in a building in Changchun, a big industrial city in Manchuria.

Yoga for a Keyboard Artist

Playing the piano, for the average keyboarder, can be a relaxing thing. Or it can be a strenuous, emotional, exhausting experience, if undertaken by an artist like Andre Watts, promising young pianist singled out as "the musician to watch in 1967." To maintain his own physical tone of fitness, Watts does Yoga exercises. Four of them are demonstrated by him in these photographs taken in Philadelphia by Henry Grossman, one of this country's most distinguished photographers. They appear much easier in observing them than they are in practice. Try them, and see.

THE UPPER PART of one leg is extended horizontally outward as far as possible in this position, and the knee and lower leg are brought back in the parallel manner, with the foot at right angles to the other leg.



A HUMAN ROCKING HORSE, Watts clasps his hands around his ankles and rocks back and forth on the abdomen. No rides please, kiddies.

HOLDING THIS POSITION long enough to have his picture taken is regarded as quite an accomplishment by Andre, who supports himself on his pianistic hands, his arms intercepting a knee-bend position, his feet lifted off the floor.

A HUMAN JACKKNIFE in appearance, the young artist stretches his hands forward on the ground and throws his legs backward over his head to rest gently on the toes in this position.

Ready, Willing Club Holds Meeting

Miss Mamie Vaughan, Clarksburg, entertained the Ready and Willing Workers Club on Jan. 25 at her home.

Eight members were present and worked on a dresden plate quilt which will be sent to the Children's Home to be sold at the Strawberry Festival in the spring.

Woman's Club Meets

The Houstonia Woman's Club of the M.F.W.C. met Jan. 25 with Mrs. James Blackburn. Thirteen members and six guests attended.

Mrs. Blackburn, vice-president, presided. The pledge to the flag, club collect, and club song were given. The newsletter from the district president was read. A motion was made to have the annual valentine party at Buena Vista.

Mrs. Hayman Higgins, chairman of safety, gave a short program followed by a talk by Mrs. Jimmy Wood on McAllester Springs. Mrs. J. C. Higgins gave a report on Girl's Town.

Mrs. Blackburn served refreshments during the social hour.

Canada, US Connected Electrically

WATERTOWN, S.D. (AP) — Power officials threw a switch Tuesday to connect the United States and Canada in a vast grid circuit—about 40 per cent of the world's electric supply.

The test linkup will be made through the Bureau of Reclamation's Missouri River Basin Project System, connecting the main lines of 209 major public and private power systems.

The operation will be directed and monitored at the bureau's substation at this prairie city of some 15,000 persons in northeastern South Dakota.

The 265,000 miles of transmission lines involved in the test could circle the earth more than 10 times. The generating capacity of the power systems is nearly 245 million kilowatts.

Frank Lachicotte, power systems manager here, is chairman of the East-West Closure Task Force in charge of the test.

It is intended to locate any problems before a permanent power grid links nearly all power stations in this country and Canada.

In announcing the hookup last month, Secretry of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said officials had been working on it since May 1965.

"When the closure is completed," he added, "generating plants from coast to coast will automatically respond to power system emergencies in any part of the country, thereby improving service standards."

Plans for the grid preceded the widespread blackout in most of the northeastern United States in November 1965. Completion of the system was hastened by that power failure.

An Interior Department spokesman said that a giant grid system such as the one being launched today would help to prevent another widespread blackout.

It will be possible later to feed large blocks of power from one section of the continent to the other. This will enable power companies to take advantage of differences in demands because of time zones, seasonal needs and storm-caused damage.

Mrs. Kennedy Sat Alone

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy and the grief-dazed aides of her assassinated husband declined to sit with President Lyndon B. Johnson during the flight from Dallas to Washington, William Manchester reports in his book, "The Death of a President."

He wrote that Mrs. Kennedy instructed Malcolm Kilduff, a press secretary, to inform the reporters aboard the plane:

"You make sure, Mac—you tell them that I was not up front, but that I came back here and sat with Jack."

Manchester wrote that Brig. Gen. Godfrey Hugh, Air Force aide to Kennedy, pounded the press table to emphasize his words and told the newsmen, "I want the record to show" that the four Kennedy aides "spent this flight in the tail compartment with the President — President Kennedy."

The third installment of Look magazine's four-part serialization of Manchester's book relates the incidents.

Reports have circulated for years about the tensions and flareups between Johnson's partisans and men loyal to memory of Kennedy on the homeward flight of the presidential plane, Air Force One.

Kilduff once described it as "the sickest plane I've ever been on."

Manchester recalled that "most of these same individuals" aboard the plane had battled each other in Los Angeles at the 1960 Democratic Convention when Johnson fought hard to wrest the presidential nomination from Kennedy.

Thrown together on the same aircraft, and with Kennedy's shattered body aboard, "made tempest inevitable," Manchester wrote.

"And aspects of Johnson's behavior in a very understandable state of shock may have proven exacerbating, but the difficulty there was largely one of manners and mannerisms. Johnson was not himself that afternoon — no man was himself then," Manchester added.

Mrs. Kennedy and her husband had spent their last moments alone together in a private cabin on Air Force One, Manchester wrote. When she returned to the compartment, after the coffin had been placed on the plane she found Johnson "reclining" on the bed, dictating to Marie Fehmer, a secretary.

"Because she regarded the bedroom as hers, she did not knock," the book says. "She simply grasped the latch and twisted it. Mrs. Kennedy came to a dead stop."

Johnson and Miss Fehmer left hastily.

Mrs. Kennedy was anxious to take off immediately for Washington, Manchester wrote. So were the Kennedy aides. They had been through a struggle, described by the author as wild, before they were able to remove Kennedy's body from Parkland Hospital in Dallas. Manchester wrote that they were afraid that Dallas authorities might appear at the plane and "kidnap" Kennedy's remains.

But Johnson was equally anxious to be sworn in as president while the plane remained on the ground at Love Field, the book says. So there was to be another delay before the oath-taking. ,

Manchester reports that a Dallas undertaker was so concerned about the pale satin upholstery in his coffin becoming stained with blood that he wrapped Kennedy's body in seven layers of rubber and plastic. "All this took 20 minutes," the author wrote.

Another half-hour was to pass while a furious dispute, which threatened to erupt into a fist fight, developed over the question of performing the autopsy before taking Kennedy's body to Air Force One.

Manchester wrote that the Dallas County medical examiner, Earl Rose, appeared at the hospital and notified the Kennedy party that this was the law in Texas.

Various Kennedy aides, the author wrote, told Rose that the coffin contained the body of the President of the United States and said the law should be waived in this instance.

Manchester wrote that Rose replied: "There are state laws about removing bodies. You people from Washington can't make your own law."

Lawrence O'Brien and Kenneth O'Donnell, two top Kennedy aides, would not countenance the thought of a delay of several hours or even longer, while Mrs. Kennedy was waiting. They determined to roll the coffin to the hearse outside the hospital, even if it meant a fight.

Telephone calls were placed to various legal authorities to resolve the problem. Manchester wrote that Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, who later prosecuted the late Jack Ruby — advised Rose to step aside. But, according to the author, Rose refused to do so.

O'Brien and O'Donnell both testified before the Warren Commission that during the argument, rapidly mounting in intensity, they heard someone say, "This is just another homicide, so far as I'm concerned."

The remark so infuriated them, Manchester wrote, that they determined to brook no further delay in removing the coffin.

They signalled the Secret Service agents and members of the Kennedy party to prepare to leave. Then they wheeled the coffin into the corridor. As they started to push through the crowd in the corridor, a melee began. Manchester wrote that these words were exchanged—

"These two guys say you can't go."

" 'One side,' Larry said curtly."

"Ken said, 'Get the hell over. We're getting out of here.' "

Manchester wrote that some 40 persons became tangled in the struggle. Some were simply trying to get out of the way as the coffin was propelled to the hospital exits.

Because of this delay, and for fear that the authorities in Dallas might make a second attempt to hold Kennedy's body, the Kennedy aides wanted a quick takeoff from Love Field.

McHugh raced to the cockpit and ordered the pilot of Air Force One to start the jet engines.

Meanwhile, arrangements had been made to administer the oath of office to Johnson while the plane was on the ground.

Johnson had discussed the question of being sworn in immediately with several persons on the airplane. Then he telephoned Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy in Washington. Exactly what passed between them in the several conversations that took place is not clear.

The President gave a statement to the Warren Commission on July 10, 1964, which said:

"As I remember, our conversation was interrupted to allow the attorney general to come back to the line. He said that the oath should be administered to me immediately, before taking off for Washington, and that it should be administered by a judicial officer of the United States. Shortly thereafter, the deputy attorney general, Mr. Nicholas Katzenbach, dictated the form of oath to one of the secretaries aboard the plane."

Manchesters report is this:

'That Robert Kennedy met Air Force One in Washington and went immediately to find his sister-in-law. She told him tha Johnson had said in Dallas that the attorney-general advised taking the oath immediately.

"The attorney general was startled. There must be some misunderstanding, he said: He had made no such suggestion, Manchester wrote.

The question is academic, of course, except that the time consumed before and after the ceremony in the plane accentuated the angry feelings of the Kennedy party.

Johnson had asked a friend, federal Judge Sarah Hughes, to administer the oath. There was a delay until she could be found and then hasten to Love Field.

The vice president said he would be glad to have everyone on the plane join him in the ceremony. He particularly wanted Mrs. Kennedy to be in the photograph to be taken of it.

Manchester wrote, "In the end, she appeared, but the decision was to be hers. She understood the symbols of authority, the need for some semblance of national majesty after the disaster, and she came."

Although a wide-angle lens was used for the photograph of the swearing-in, Manchester said "it did not record the presence of a single male Kennedy aide."

After the ceremony, the book says, the President and Mrs. Johnson conducted Mrs. Kennedy to a seat in the forward compartment and asked her to sit with them. She did so, briefly. Then Manchester wrote, she excused herself and went to the rear compartment.

There she found O'Brien, O'Donnell, McHugh and David Powers standing near the coffin. For the first time since the death of her husband, Manchester wrote, she burst into uncontrollable sobbing.

The author said that Johnson twice asked O'Donnell and O'Brien to sit with him during the flight but they "flatly refused."

Money

thorize the Board of Public Buildings to pick a site for a new state office building in Jefferson City.

And Sen. John Johnson, D-Sappington, introduced a bill to clear the way for issuance of revenue bonds to build a state office building in St. Louis County.

Also passed and sent to the House were bills to change the title of county judge to county commissioner and one to let junior college districts hold special elections to issue bonds or borrow money.

Other new bills would:

Require 331 parking lot operators in the state to be licensed by the director of revenue at $50 and show financial ability to pay damage costs.

Make it a felony for a prisoner to escape and raise the penalty to six months in jail or up to 10 years in prison.

Make it a felony to influence or intimidate a juror or witness with a penalty of two to five years.

Set up a statewide food stamp plan at a cost of $1,655,999.

Replace present prosecuting attorneys in each county with 30 circuit attorneys who would be paid the same as circuit judges and be required to devote full time to their work. They could have a part time assistant in each county. The estimated cost—$480,000.

Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton, chairman of the governor's Commission on Crime and Juvenile Delinquency, asked Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, to introduce the bill.

Eagleton said it would upgrade, improve and modernize law enforcement as recommended by President Johnson.

A plan to legalize branch banking took another beating in the Senate Tuesday.

An amendment to permit branch banking was introduced by Sen. Maurice Schechter, D-Creve Coeur. Opponents noted that was voted down by popular vote in 1958 and the amendment was defeated, 27-3.

Then the broad bill to revise Missouri banking laws was advanced.

In the House legal horse and dog race parimutuel betting and sale of liquor by the drink on Sunday came in and both issues are sure to draw fire.

A racing commission would supervise racing and have power to issue revenue bonds to build race tracks.

The racing season would extend from April 15 to Nov. 15 but would be limited to within 50 miles of Kansas City or St. Louis except by special county referendum.

Considering New Appeal For Hoffa

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is considering for a second time an appeal for a new trial for Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, who is carrying on an extensive legal battle to stay out of prison.

Judges Paul C. Weick, Clifford O'Sullivan and Lester L. Cecil heard arguments Tuesday on two motions asking for a retrial of Hoffa's 1964 conviction in Chattanooga, Tenn., on jury-tampering charges.

The head of the 1.7-million member labor union was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000. Both the Appeals Court and the U.S. Supreme Court have upheld the conviction. Hoffa has until Saturday to petition for a rehearing before the Supreme Court.

Defense attorneys Daniel Maher and Bernard Mellman argued Tuesday that Hoffa's constitutional rights were violated and that the Chattanooga jury and trial judge Frank Wilson were biased against Hoffa.

The allegations were denied by government attorney Nathan Lewin.

Maher said Hoffa's rights under the Sixth Amendment were violated when the government used an informer, Robert Vick, to get information on Hoffa's defense tactics.

Hoffa was here for the arguments and then left for Washington, D.C. He would not comment on the case. The conviction was the first for Hoffa in a long succession of federal trials. He since has been convicted in Chicago on fraud and conspiracy charges in connection with the Teamsters pension fund.

The arguments Tuesday also concerned three men convicted with Hoffa. They are Larry Campbell, a Teamsters official from Detroit; Ewing King, a former Nashville Teamsters local president, and Thomas E. Parks of Nashville. Each was sentenced to three years.

The jury-tampering charges grew out of Hoffa's 1962 conspiracy trial in Nashville, Tenn., which ended in a hung jury.

Fire

choking back the tears, watched horrified as the flames leaped high into the sky above the building.

Gov. Lurleen Wallace expressed sympathy for the families of the victims "of this terrible tragedy." She and her husband, former Gov. George C. Wallace, stayed up past midnight at the executive mansion half a dozen blocks away, getting telephoned reports from an aide.

John English, assistant manager of the restaurant and one of its owners, said the fire began in a cloakroom off the cocktail lounge adjoining the main dining room.

He said it started as a "very small fire" but the flames spread rapidly.

Many of the 75 or more diners trapped by the flames made their way to safety by breaking out windows and crawling onto the roof surrounding the penthouse. One of them was Bill White of Dothan, Ala., a truckline president who was with Mr. and Mrs. Pepper.

White, his hand bleeding after he had smashed a window and led others to safety, said he saw no trace of the former state official or his wife after the fire erupted with a "whoosh" into a raging inferno.

A cook who tried in vain to put out the flames with a fire extinguisher, Jesse Williams, said the fire had spread too swiftly by the time he could run across the room.

Lebanon Voters Oust School Bond Issue

LEBANON, Mo. (AP) — An $875,000 school bond issue was defeated Tuesday by voters in the Lebanon R-3 School District.

The vote was 1,094 in favor and 798 against, 168 votes short of a two-thirds majority. The money would have been used for a high school vocational building, a junior high school and an addition to the elementary school.

truding into its air space. North Vietnam does not concede that its troops are fighting in the south.

U.S. officials in Saigon refused to comment on reports that the truce may be prolonged beyond the four days announced by the allies, but a State Department spokesman in Washington held open such a possibility.

"We will see what happens," said State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey.

The Viet Cong has declared a seven-day truce for the new year celebration known as Tet. Its cease-fire is scheduled to run three days beyond the end of the allied truce at 7 a.m. Sunday 6 p.m. EST Saturday.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon saidthat under the truce declaration, the allies would not initiate any offensive operations. But he said because of numerous violations of previous truces, the allies assumed a "full alert posture." This entails increased patrol and security activity and air and naval reconnaissance, he explained.

Saigon resounded with the incessant popping of firecrackers as the Vietnamese prepared to welcome in the "Year of the Goat" at midnight. Celebrations will continue until the end of the week at least.

In the two days before the truce started, U.S. planes waged a mammoth propaganda campaign, dropping 18 million leaflets over North Vietnam and 89 million leaflets over South Vietnam.

The leaflets over the Communist north were "news bulletins" telling of the rift between the Soviet Union and Red China, of defections from the Communist ranks and of defeats of Communist forces in South Vietnam.

During the two-day truce last Christmas, the U.S. and South Vietnamese military commands reported 122 incidents.

In war action just before the Tet truce started, U.S. forces reported killing 113 Communist troops in fighting in several sectors. South Vietnamese troops reported killing 31 Viet Cong in three scattered engagements.

U.S. B52 bombers made two raids in South Vietnam at dawn just before the cease-fire began. One hit at troop concentrations 17 miles northwest of Quang Ngai City on the coast, the other at a storage area 14 miles northwest of Bong Son, also on the central coast.

Optimist Program On Rescue Work

Sheriff Emmett Fairfax and Deputy Sheriff Jack Couts presented the program at Optimist Noonday Club Tuesday at the State Fair Restaurant, on the Pettis County Sheriff's Scuba Rescue Squad.

Sheriff Fairfax explained how this squad worked in the time of need to bring up bodies from the water after accidents of various types as well as stolen items.

Deputy Sheriff Couts is one of the squad organized for the sport of scuba diving, but which has proved very valuable in cases of emergency, answering the call at all hours.

There are 22 members in the Scuba Club in Sedalia, Couts said, and they must be national certified divers before they can obtain the air needed. Air, he said, is used, not oxygen, and it goes through several processes.

The book they have tells of the dangers of some of the things by which they are confronted under the water, but most of these are in the ocean. Around here these dangers do not exist, the only one that does is the alligator turtle. It lies hidden, he said, and you come upon it without seeing it. One of the men nearly lost a hand to one but they later captured it. This alligator turtle weighed 81 pounds and a man could stand on it and it could still move along.

Couts and Fairfax then showed the clothing and equipment used by the scuba divers and explained each piece.

The talk was followed by a film on scuba rescue work and the bringing out of the water the truck in which a man, woman and child were killed. Everything was taken out of the trailer before it was pulled on to land, and among the things in it was the woman's purse with more than $100. The bodies had previously been taken from the trailer truck by the scuba divers.

In a more recent accident they were unable to release the body of the man in the car and had to bring the car to land with the body in it.

The speakers were introduced by Pete Stohr, program chairman.

The meeting was presided over by R. L. Settles, president, and invocation was by the Rev. Charles Hendrickson.

Jay Appleton, who was manager for the Optimist Khoury Soccer Team, which was the championship team, presented the Optimist Club the plaque from the team consisting of 17 boys. This team did not win the championship of the state, he said, but they made a wonderful showing. He also presented a certificate and stated that Sedalia had become known as a very strong soccer town. This was due to the help of the Optimist Club, he commented in sponsoring soccer in Sedalia at the start three years ago.

Settles expressed appreciation to Appleton for the work he had done and for the plaque.

He also thanked Sheriff Fairfax for his assistance with the Crime Alert program sponsored by the Optimist and stated he hoped it would spread throughout the county.

Ready Mixed Concrete Producers Meet Here

Ready mixed concrete producers from western and central Missouri will meet Feb. 21 at Holiday Inn, Sedalia, for a one-day educational and marketing seminar. The meeting will be sponsored by the Portland Cement Association, in cooperation with the Ready Mixed Concrete Association of Missouri.

Approximately 20 concrete producers from the area are expected to attend the meeting, which will begin with a luncheon. John H. Koester, St. Louis, district engineer for Missouri for the Portland Cement Association, will preside. New and extended uses of concrete will be discussed, and producers will exchange ideas on marketing and sales.

Bob Hope's Special Is Big Success

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope's annual Christmas show, broadcast by NBC in mid-January, as usual ran away with the Nielsen ratings for the period. It was far ahead of the perennial champion, "Bonanza" and pulled the second largest audience of the season, beaten only by ABC's broadcast of the "Bridge on the River Kwai" in September.

The Nielsen ratings are more than simple popularity contests. They translate into dollars and cents. In a study published in the current issue of the trade magazine "Broadcasting," it is estimated that the cost of a minute of commercial time on the Hope special cost the advertiser $85,000. Cost of a minute on "Bonanza" is $55,000, the magazine said.

Among regularly scheduled programs, the most expensive for the advertiser is CBS's "The Lucy Show," which the magazine figured costs $65,500 per minute. The Red Skelton Show and Ed Sullivan's hour cost $62,000 and $61,000 respectively. "Beverly Hillbillies" is pegged at $57,900.

Generally, the higher the Nielsen rating, the more the commercial traffic bears. On the other end of the scale, ABC's "Green Hornet" and NBC's "Laredo" each receive $27,000 per minute — less than half the rewards of the winners' circle.

Daytime charges for commercial time are much lower but the magazine haid the minute cost of CBS's "As the World Turns," the most popular soap opera, is $14,000. It drops to $3,600 for ABC's "Dark Shadows."

CBS moved "Mission Impossible" ahead a half-hour on Saturday nights and it promptly picked up a couple of rating points — at least two million extra viewers — in Jackie Gleason's wake. ABC's "Love on a Rooftop" changed to a new day and time period, and gained three points, but change did not seem to help "The Phyllis Diller Show."

Top 10 shows in the period were Hope's Christmas show, CBS's rerun of "Cinderella," NBC's "Bonanza," CBS's "Andy Griffith Show," "Lucy Show," Friday Night Movie, Jackie Gleason Show, Ed Sullivan Show and "Hogan's Heroes."

In the averages, CBS emerged the winner with 21.6, followed by NBC with 20.2 and ABC 17.8.

Bush Fires Kill 40; Toll Rises

HOBART, Tasmania (AP) — At least 40 persons are known dead and the toll is rising in the wake of bush fires that raged across southern Tasmania Tuesday.

Fanned by 70-mile winds, the worst fire in the history of the Australian island state swept through rural areas and lapped at the outskirts of Hobart, the state capital. More than 600 homes were destroyed and the country area was left a blackened expanse littered with dead sheep and cattle. Damage ran into millions of dollars.

The wind shifted during the night and the fires burned out.

The Australian Commonwealth Carbide Co. of Electrona, about 20 miles south of Hobart, was razed. The small township of Colebrook, northeast of the capital, was wiped out.

Gov. Sir Charles Gairdner proclaimed a civil emergency and declared Hobart a disaster area.

In the capital, which has a population of 106,002, the flames burned down a brewery, blew up a dynamite factory, partially destroyed newsprint mills and gutted a high school. Prisoners were released from jail to help battle the flames.

Burnt shells of streetcars, churches and houses in some suburbs at the foot of Mt. Wellington gave the city a bombed-out appearance. An orange smoke pall rose to 8,000 feet over one-third of the island, which is slightly larger than West Virginia. The flames severed telephone communications with mainland Australia and put Hobart's radio stations off the air.

At one stage 150 bus passengers on a sightseeing tour narrowly escaped after being ringed by fire in a suburb five miles from the center of Hobart.

City Hall was turned into a first aid station for hundreds of persons suffering from cuts, burns and smoke.

It is summer south of the equator and the fire followed the hottest February day in 68 years. The temperature rose to nearly 103 degrees.

Governor Confounds His Critics

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — In his first month in office Gov. Lester G. Maddox has confounded many of his critics and succeeded in projecting a new image to Georgia and the nation.

"People had other ideas about Lester Maddox, but I believe our actions and appointments, which represented all factions, gave us our true image," he said today in an interview four weeks after his inauguration.

Maddox maintains that "the news media gave me the image" as a segregationist when he closed his restaurant rather than bow to a federal court order to serve Negroes.

He said he took the action to protest "the federal government moving into a man's business." He said he is no racist.

"I want a conservative state government and I want to conserve and preserve the rights of the individual," he said.

Maddox added, "I still have all my convictions and I'm going to stand by them, but I recognize that I have to be governor of all the people."

Maddox often uses the expression "all the people," raising the hopes of Negro leaders that he will do more for them than any previous Georgia governor.

Maddox has welcomed everyone — Negro and white — to the governor's office on "Little People's Day." The doors to his office are to be open on the first and third Wednesdays every month to anyone who wishes to shake the governor's hand, give him a memo or even ask about a job.

A friendly, outgoing man, Maddox has been described as having "the people's touch." He communicates quickly and easily with everyone and shows he has little pretensions about the power of the office he holds.

During the first month of his administration, Maddox has received thousands of offers of help and assistance. "The offers of cooperation developed even faster than I anticipated," he said.

Maddox gained the governorship after a long, bitter campaign -- waged on a shoestring. He got the office when the predominantly Democratic General Assembly voted for him although Republican Howard H. Callaway had led in the general election. Write-in votes had kept either from gaining a maojrity.

Even his most vocal critics have received Maddox's speeches and program, for the most part, agreeably.

"If he doesn't louse up, at the rate he's going he will be one of our most popular governors," said State Sen. James P. Wesberry Jr. of Atlanta who described himself as one of the most anti-Maddox people earlier.

Luminous License Plates Recommended

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Passage of a bill to require two reflective and luminous license plates was recommended Tuesday night by the Motor Vehicles Committee of the Missouri House.

It also recommended a change in wording so fines imposed on overweight trucks would be "not more than two cents" instead of "not less than two cents" a pound on the first 500 pounds.

Several witnesses testified some magistrates have been misusing the provision for additional income.

Other bills recommended by the committee:

By Rep. John A. Grell, D-Maplewood, to require a driving test for reinstatement of a suspended driver's license.

By Rep. Carroll J. McCubbin, R-Eldon, to require separate licensing for operators of motorcycles.

Knows All The Exits

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — A 45-minute power failure left a group of women visitors to the legislature sitting in the dark in strange surroundings in the House Office Building Monday night.

Rep. Paul Barden, Seattle Republican, gallantly stepped into the confusion.

"Follow me, ladies," he said confidently. "Be calm. I know all the exits."

They trailed after Barden trustingly — right into the women's rest room.

Washington Capsules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted without opposition to give veterans of the Vietnam war period the same benefits accorded to men who served in earlier conflicts.

Also Tuesday, the Defense Department announced an April draft call of 11,400 men, 500 less than the March quota. Draft calls so far this year have averaged about 12,000 a month, although Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has forecast much higher quotas.

Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M., one of 73 Senate sponsors of the veterans bill, called the measure essential, saying "it would ill behoove a nation which pioneered in providing for its veterans to turn its back on them now."

President Johnson also supports the measure, which now goes to the House. It is expected to cost about $9.7 million next year and $79.9 million over the next five years.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics has awarded its first Haley Astronautics Award to Edward H. White II, one of three victims of the Jan. 27 Apollo spacecraft fire.

The institute said the citation, medal and a $500 cash award will be presented to White's widow.

The award honors White for his historic walk in space and other contributions undertaken "at great personal risk in the advancement of space flight" during the four-day Gemini 4 mission last June.

The institute said the selection was made early in January, before the fatal fire at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Cold Hits Hard At Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — This was the Mardi Gras in which some wore long underwear and ice cream vendors cursed the north winds. It was real cool man!

It wasn't the coldest Mardi Gras in the history of the city — just the third coldest. The temperature stood at freezing most of the morning, inching to a day's high of 43.

Street cleaners worked a long hard night carting away tons of beer cans, whisky bottles and other trash left behind Tuesday by over half a million revelers.

It was the traditional final fling before the 40 days of Lent in this predominantly Roman Catholic city.

Zulu, king of the all-Negro Krewe, showed up for Mardi Gras with Dixieland jazz, witch doctors, six floats loaded with "big shots" and a large cigar clenched between his teeth.

It was Zulu's most ambitious attempt in years. The Zulu parade used to be a major Mardi Gras attraction. It had slipped to a shadow of its former self after civil rights groups attacked the show as degrading.

"I think we contributed something to our wonderful free show," said Zulu — Deputy Sheriff Milton Bienamee — after a procession in which souvenir hunters pinched away chunks of his float.

The crowd was smaller than the last Mardi Gras' monumental crush but it was as zany as ever, turning the downtown area into a costume ball.

The parade of Rex, premier Krewe of Mardi Gras, was a grand spectacle. So was Comus, the final procession.

About the only sad faces were worn by the ice cream vendors, who had enjoyed little trade.

Police reported about 200 arrests and spoke approvingly of the general behavior.

"They were, perhaps, little more sane than in years past," said a police spokesman.

Or maybe they were just too cold.

Cottonwood Lake Is Site For Contest

COTTONWOOD, Minn. (AP) — An ice fishing derby has been scheduled for Sunday at Cottonwood Lake, where no fish has been reported caught in the past 10 years.

Bror Anderson, president of the Lions Club, which arranged the event, said Tuesday expenses will be held down by not drilling holes in the ice.

In case of bad weather, Anderson added, the contest will be moved indoors.

A lie detector will be provided and Anderson said anyone showing up with a fish will be suspect.

Cottonwood Lake is at the north edge of this southwestern Minnesota community.

No Utopia for the Termite

It is probable that no living creature has more reason to crave privacy than the termite.

Once a termite's activities become unclassified, he's in trouble. A sawdust pile by the woodwork, the homeowner panics, calls the exterminator, and—whoosh!

You can imagine, then, how the termite must feel now that his privacy has been invaded, and invaded but good.

The invader is Dr. Alastair M. Stuart, a zoologist at North Carolina State University.

Stuart has bored into termitian affairs until he knows their social behavior, their government, their communications system.

He has also learned that termites not only recognize their friends, but know their enemies as well.

"Termites," he reports, "live in a sort of democracy. They even have what amounts to a military draft."

"When danger threatens the nest, a general decision is made as to how many and which termites will be sent out to combat that danger."

If any termite draftees have burned their draft cards, Stuart did not report it.

He does, however, have a word of consolation for some husbands. Termites, he says, live under petticoat rule, too. They are governed by a queen termite who stands for no nonsense, back talk or hanky-panky.

All in all, Stuart makes life in termiteland sound well-organized and even exciting.

Even at that, things can't be too utopian for the termite. Not only has his privacy now been invaded, but his steady job of eating up woodwork just has to be boring and gnawseous.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Daylight savings time will become effective in Sedalia Feb. 9 in accordance with an ordinance passed as a war emergency measure by city council. This conforms to action passed by Congress recently.

— 1942 —

Construction is underway on a filling station to be erected by James W. Brown, 1009 East 10th street, on the property north of the Missouri Pacific tracks on Highway 65 just across the street from the new Sedco shoe factory.

— 1942 —

Approximately 1,500 persons in Sedalia and Pettis county enrolled as volunteers under the civilian defense program, the headquarters of which are in the Chamber of Commerce office.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Miss Anna Washington Wooldridge, popular member of Sedalia society, and her aunt, Miss Mary Thompson, sailed from New York aboard the U. S. THE LEDGER STAR (Norfolk, Va.) — Suds and Bowls. — A few years back the makers of a leading washday detergent advertised that a box of their product would generate enough suds to fill a bus. It was purely a statistical projection, and they were momentarily taken aback when asked by a national magazine to make the claim good before the cameras. They did, although whom that left the driving to, we don't know.

Anyway, we were reminded of this the other night when a former American decathlon champion, who now hawks breakfast cereal for a living, told the television audience that enough bowls of his favorite crunchies are poured every year to fill the Rose Bowl up to the 56th row.

The image thus summoned up was even more startling than the busful of suds, and we only hope that no one calls his hand on it before next New Year's Day. Even the hungriest of college teams might balk at an invitation to play in the Cereal Bowl.

The Ideas He Gets

A minister in Washington, D. C., who was for years a jazz musician and still operates to a hot beat, grabs the attention of people he hopes to save by asking, "What's your favorite sin?"

No one knows for sure, of course, just how effective this approach may be in saving souls. But think how interesting life must be for the parson!

The Meaning of Lent

So Who Cares About Lent?

A fair number of Christian people have treated Lent with a vague kind of pious respect. Puzzled about its meaning and confused over what is expected, they see Lent as sort of a religious gross national product or an ecclesiastical federal reserve system. It's terribly important, but they haven't the slightest idea of what it is all about.

"Lent" comes from the Anglo-Saxon word "lencten," meaning spring. The word root means "to lengthen." At this time of the year, the short days of winter literally lengthen into the longer days of spring.

Lent is 40 days—representing the period of solitary temptation endured by Jesus in the wilderness.

Today, Lent should be considered spring training for Christians. A spiritual recovery area. A fixed period on the calendar when we assemble an ordered personal life in place of frantic activity, meaningless encounters and overplayed religious games.

Some moderns have urged that we forget Lent: It's too long.

Anyway, they argue, self-denial doesn't fit in our miniskirted society. So much prayer and Bible reading is a drag. I'll admit that Lent is too rigidly defined and consequently the benefits of this Holy Season are yet to be discovered.

As we explore the Meaning of Lent, remember that it can be the most splendid adventure of all — the renewal of your spirit.

Amateur Speculators Are Among Most Curious People

NEW YORK (AP) — The amateur stock market speculator is one of the most curious psychological packages produced by the human race.

He sometimes forgets so as to hide from pain. He convinces himself that he has learned his lesson, but often just so he can go back for more of the same trouble.

In the market to make a killing — to double his money overnight or make a 50 per cent profit in a week or for some such foolish reason — he also desperately holds to a stock that is going the opposite way.

Said one of them: "It is surprising how one can come to live comfortably with imminent financial ruin, or, at least, a devastating loss. You get used to living in what is really a rotting structure."

This is the statement of a young man who set out to double his money and, instead, lost an inheritance, his insurance money, his wife's savings and the cash he had set aside for a rainy day.

He listened to hot tips, bought impulsively, fired brokers and hired others whose ethics could be questioned, confused his purposes, adjusted to losses but became even greedier with gains.

Some will recognize his words as those of the Anonymous Investor who wrote the book "Wiped Out." The Anonymous Investor says he lost $60,000, even though the market was rising. The story reads like fiction. The author says it is fact.

One big mutual fund distributor has offered the book to its salesmen in bulk lots for possible distribution to potential customers, for in its own way it is an advertisement for sound management.

This amateur speculator, who didn't have rugs on his Manhattan apartment floor because he needed the money for stocks, lost his money between 1957 and 1964, then wrote a book in which he convinced himself that a lesson was learned.

He is back in the market. "Not heavily," he said in an interview. "I got an advance and I got hold of some other dough." He would, perhaps, have returned long before but "it was academic. I had no dough." He is behind again.

The advance referred to was a cash payment for his book in advance of publication. Authorship, he feels, has permitted him to talk out his problem, his heartache, his loss.

"It's history. I've learned to live with it."

This man soon will get some more money, the income from sales of his book, which now exceeds 20,000 copies. What will he do with this money?

"I'm going to spend it on the apartment," he said, "and then what's left I'll probably go back into the market with caution, care and patience. I will invest conservatively."

Q's and A's On Tax Matters

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I just started my own business. Can an employer use his Social Security number for business tax purposes?

A — If you just started your own business and are liable for employment, excise or other business tax returns, you must obtain an employer identification number. This number must be shown on all business returns and on Schedule C of your 1040 return. You can apply for a number by filling out Form SS-4, which is available at local IRS and Social Security offices.

Your Social Security number should be shown only on your individual income tax return, self-employment tax Schedule E, and declaration of estimated tax, Form 1040ES.

Q — I won $100 prize in an essay contest in school. Who has to pay the tax on the prize — me or my parents? I'm 17 years old.

A — A prize won in an essay contest is taxable to the winner. It should be counted when you add up your income for the year. If you total $600 or more in earned income then you will have to file a tax return.

Your family is not liable for any income earned by you.

Democrat Pick-ups

Having gone some place with a friend during the morning a woman arrived home about 11:30 and decided she would make some chili. She had dressed hurriedly to go with the friend and now she changed clothes, prepared the chili and put it on the stove, then fixed herself a little lunch.

At 1:30 her telephone rang and another friend called and wanted her to go someplace at about 2 p. m. Hurriedly she took the chili off the stove, changed clothes again and was ready to go. At 5:30 she was home again, changed clothes and put the chili on the stove again. By 6:30 she decided it was probably done and took out a bowl of it, which was too hot to eat. About that time the telephone rang again and somebody was coming over so she put the chili back in the refrigerator and changed her clothes again, after deciding she didn't look very presentable.

Before that guest left another called who said she was going to come by for only a few minutes, so the woman put the chili back on after the first person left. The second one came and stayed about a half hour and the chili kept cooking. When her last guest left she went into the kitchen, the chili hadn't burned but it had certainly cooked dry, so she took out a little bit and it tasted flat. Had she left something out or cooked it too long? She added water and cooked it some more. It still wasn't good as it should be, but she was hungry and ate some anyway, then she put it back in the refrigerator — changed clothes again — and this time she went to bed. H. L.

The World Today

China, Russia Suffer Similar Sickness

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviets and the Chinese Communists each took about 17 years to digest their revolutions, and then they had convulsions. For another 19 years, the Soviets were in Doctor Stalin's sickbed.

The Chinese may recover sooner because of the difference in age between Stalin and Doctor Mao Tse-tung at the time of the convulsions. Mao is an old man. Therein lies, perhaps, the West's best hope for the future.

The murder of a party friend in 1934—17 years after the Bolshevik revolution—gave Stalin the take-off point for wiping out any possible opposition in the bloody purges of the 1930s.

He was 55 when the purges began and he remained in total control another 19 years until his death in 1953, although his energy and ambitions were distracted and much consumed by World War II.

If there had been no war, the U.S.S.R. might have been different now, and the world also. Certainly if Stalin had lasted longer, the Soviets would have been slower turning toward more moderation.

He had one policy: Progress for the U.S.S.R. And it made progress, industrially and scientifically. But the people paid the price in lives, sacrifices and suppression.

In 1966, Mao, 17 years after his Red Chinese took over mainland China, began his rampage against some of his old associates and the new bureaucracy. Revisionists, he called them, which is another word for reactionaries.

This is what he called the Soviets, to explain his break with them.

If he wins, with his primitive concepts of organizing a nation, he will set China back but that cannot last long. He is 73.

There is a difference between Mao and Stalin seldom mentioned. While Stalin shot his foes and rivals, reports from China do not tell of executions as the solution to differences of opinion. At least, not yet.

When Mao fades or dies, provided he wins now, those closest to him may, like Stalin's lieutenants after his death, repudiate him and seek a more flexible, modern nation. If they try to continue his rigid policies, there may be a revolution by the anti-Maoists who have waited for the chance.

That his extreme policies cannot continue indefinitely seems sure. Like Stalin, Mao was an original revolutionary with all that means in obsession, with an ideology and search for power, self-discipline and self-sacrifice, and total dedication.

Both men were fanatics.

But the newer generations of Chinese, lacking the revolutionary experience, cannot help viewing the world and their homeland a little differently. Further, like the Soviet generations which emerged after the Bolshevik revolution, the new Chinese have a growing sense of security in jobs, homes, or party positions.

The penniless, drifting revolutionaries had nothing to lose but their lives. Their successors do. This makes for more reluctance to risk drastic changes or possible loss through internal upheavals or, perhaps, war. When that happens, ideology becomes a little more secondary.

For example: The U.S.S.R.'s present leaders, in control of a vastly developed homeland, will think twice before losing everything in an atomic war.

In time, the Chinese can be expected to do the same. But in the end all this may be something less than an unmixed blessing for the West.

If the new Chinese patch up their quarrel with the Soviets, and the two Communist giants become solid allies, it will be a nightmare power bloc for the West.

McCarthy Undercut By Sen. Dodd

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — What the public didn't know about the last closed-door meeting of the Senate Ethics Committee regarding Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., was that Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., argued that future hearings be behind closed doors. This would ease the pain of the investigation for Dodd.

And what the senator from Minnesota didn't know when he tried to help Dodd was that Dodd has undercut him repeatedly in the past.

At last week's Ethics Committee meeting, McCarthy was overruled. He argued that the evidence against Dodd should be presented behind closed doors, then summarized for the public in a committee report. The other five committee members argued that the Adam Clayton Powell and the Bobby Baker cases would make the public highly suspicious of closed-door hearings. The vote was 5 to 1 that the committee must operate in the open.

Sen. McCarthy, a conscientious and kingly senator, has long been friendly to Dodd, but the friendship has not always been reciprocated. During the 1964 Democratic skirmishing to see who would run as Vice President on the Lyndon Johnson ticket, both McCarthy and Dodd had their eyes on the No. 2 spot.

They figured that Johnson would need a Catholic as his running mate in order to pick up pro-Kennedy votes. To this end, Sen. Dodd had a memo prepared under the caption "Several reasons why Dodd should be Vice President." The memo was mimeographed in his office under this title, but then Dodd felt that the title was not just what he wanted and re-mimeographed the memo without the title.

Meanwhile, he kept privately belittling the idea that Gene McCarthy was fit to be Vice President. On one occasion, Mrs. Dodd, who naturally echoed her husband's views, remarked: "I don't see why any man should want the office of Vice President. It's shocking to see the way Gene McCarthy is pushing himself."

Nevertheless, McCarthy continued to be very friendly to the senator from Connecticut. On occasion he would drop by Dodd's office for a chat. Twice, however, Dodd refused to see him.

McCarthy's Other Cheek

Probably McCarthy did not know that he was rebuffed. For when he appeared in Dodd's outer office, Dodd hid behind an inner door and sent word out by a staff member that he was not in. Actually, he was sitting with his friend, John O'Keefe, drinking.

Despite this, McCarthy last week did his best to save his friend from public embarrassment by arguing that the next Ethics hearings should be behind closed doors.

The committee not only rejected McCarthy's proposal, but voted unanimously—with McCarthy joining — to deny Dodd's claim that the committee had no jurisdiction to investigate his finances.

Irony is that it was Dodd himself who requested the investigation that he now claims the committee is unauthorized to conduct.

Dodd and his attorney picked a bad day to plead his case before the Ethics Committee. Just one day before, a jury had found Bobby Baker guilty of diverting campaign funds to his personal use without reporting the income on his tax returns. This is exactly what Dodd did, except he pocketed much more money than Bobby Baker. Dodd used campaign funds to pay thousands of dollars of personal bills ranging from a $57 heater for his North Stonington, Conn., home to a gala wedding party for his daughter, Martha.

Church and State

Sen. Sam Ervin, a former North Carolina Superior Court Judge and a devout Presbyterian, is renewing his campaign this year for a constitutional showdown on federal aid to religious schools.

The senator from North Carolina points out that the First Amendment clearly forbids the use of government funds to support any religion, and he demands that the Supreme Court rule specifically on whether federal grants to churches for school buildings are not unconstitutional. He also wants a test of federal money to churches for anti-poverty work.

Sen. Ervin proposes that private individuals in separate states be permitted to test out these rulings before the Supreme Court. Hitherto an appeal by a private taxpayer has not been accepted by the court.

Ironically, Rep. Emanuel Celler of Brooklyn, a prominent Jew and also a Democrat, has blocked Ervin's bill in the House Judiciary Committee in the past. Chairman Celler has been liberal on civil rights, but when it comes to religious matters he sometimes bows to Rep. John Rooney and his fellow Brooklynites.

This year Sen. Ervin has appealed to Celler not to block his bill, and Celler seems more cooperative. During the last election, New York's Democratic candidate for governor, Frank O'Connor, proposed the use of state funds for parochial schools. This was reported to have been a factor in switching liberal party votes to Rockefeller. The issue will rise again at the New York State Constitutional Convention to be held in April.

Jim: "In the first days of contract everyone played limit raises so that if your partner opened one spade and you raised him to three you were making a strong nonforcing bid."

Oswald: "This was logical but there was one weakness. We jumped to four to show a very good raising hand and this made slam bidding so difficult that we got around to forcing jump raises and the use of a new suit bid to show the strong nonforcing raise."

Jim: "This was like going from Chicago to New York by way of Los Angeles. Yet it has been taught to the public for 30 years and is a basic part of Standard American bidding today."

Oswald: "You and I and most of our top players have gone back to limit raises. The reason is that we have been able to put lazy bids to work to cover those hands that cry out for a forcing raise. I hope that the teachers and public will be following us shortly."

Jim: "Here is a hand from 'Win at Bridge with Jacoby and Son' that illustrates the limit raise at its best. North has a good hand that is not quite strong enough to insist on game opposite South's opening spade bid. He gives a limit raise to three and South has enough over a minimum to carry on to game."

Oswald: "You could get there the long way 'round with a two-club response by North but this would make it easy for East to come in with a two diamond overcall."

Jim: "Four spades is a lay down because South can take five trumps, four clubs and one heart. On the other hand, East and West can bid five diamonds and go down two tricks for a good 300-point save if the limit raise is not there to shut them out."

OUT OUR WAY — By J. R. WILLIAMS

Reuther Squelches Rebellion

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, in quitting the ruling council of the AFL-CIO, squelched rebellious aides who want a total break with the big labor federation now, it was learned today.

Reuther's cold war with AFL-CIO President George Meany yet may lead the UAW chief to yank his union out of the federation, but he used the UAW's own constitution to block such a move for the present.

The UAW is one of only a handful of the 129 affiliated unions whose constitution calls for membership in the 13.5 million member AFL-CIO.

Reuther, who joined Meany in founding the modern "House of Labor" 11 years ago, generally is regarded as the No. 2 man in the federation. Sources in his Detroit headquarters say Reuther wants to avoid a complete break if possible.

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, told a UAW regional conference in Milwaukee Tuesday the union has no immediate plans to withdraw from the AFL-CIO. But, he said, "there is always the possibility that we may be compelled to go our own way."

Mazey also said "the days of the UAW sitting back and not criticizing President Meany and other (AFL-CIO) leaders even when it felt they were wrong are over."

Reuther and other UAW officials profess disenchantment with what they call complacency, lack of vision in social, civil rights and trade union affairs, and a too rigid foreign policy under Meany's leadership.

While some UAW advisers said the union's constitutional requirement for AFL-CIO membership is so vague it could be ignored, a majority of Reuther's executive board ruled it "legitimate and binding" before last Friday's announcement that Reuther and all other UAW officials had quit their AFL-CIO posts.

This meant the UAW stayed in the AFL-CIO and Reuther also retained the presidency of the federation's big industrial union department.

The UAW constitution says one of its purposes is "to work as an autonomous international union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations."

Interpreting this as binding blocked one faction of the UAW Executive Board that wanted to go further and immediately withdraw the 1.4 million member union from the AFL-CIO, informed sources said.

The UAW convention in April is expected to be asked to repeal the constitutional requirement for affiliation with the AFL-CIO and put the full power of decision in the hands of the UAW Executive Board.

Reported In Andes Lost Revolutionary

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Che Guevara, the revolutionary who mysteriously disappeared from Cuba nearly two years ago, now is reported directing construction of a network of secret tunnels in the South American Andes.

The report, by Julio Garceran, exiled former Cuban Supreme Court justice, is one of many about Guevara, Fidel Castro's former guerrilla leader. He has been reported in Vietnam, Africa, various Latin-American countries — and dead.

Garceran told newsmen: "I have reason to believe that Guevara is directing construction of guerrilla tunnels in the Andes on the style of those by the Communists in South Vietnam."

Garceran did not say on what he based his report.

Girl Scout Notes

The Senior Scout troop met Feb. 2, at the home of their advisor, Mrs. Bob Fingland.

The meeting was called to order by Dianne Basso.

Pins that had been ordered by the girls were passed out. These are to be paid for as soon as possible.

It was announced that a poem written by one of the girls, Annetta Grainger, would appear in this month's Snoops and Scoops.

The closing ceremony for the Senior Conference at Fulton was planned. It was decided that if there was no speaker, that a film would be shown. "Climb Every Mountain" will also be sung with "The World Song" as an alternate. Also decided was that Annetta should write a poem dealing directly with the "Search for Service" theme.

Mrs. Fingland asked if the girls would like to be guests at a party being held by the Cadettes on March 11. She also asked the girls to think about and decide if they would like to attend the Trinity Lutheran Church on Girl Scout Sunday, March 12.

The girls were asked to bring their dues at the next meeting if at all possible.

It was discussed that a more uniform manner of bringing refreshments should be adopted. The girls will be volunteers to bring refreshments.

Three girls were also picked to attend this month's Senior Planning Board in Jefferson City Feb. 4.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Fingland.

The meeting then adjourned.

Girl Scout troop 397 met Jan. 31.

An election of officers was held at the previous meeting. The results follow. The Flying Saucers elected Diana Huddleston, Patrol Leader; Debbie Clark, Assistant. The Space Angels are led by Kathy Goodier; Assistant Beth Deason. Janet Lafflin is the Patrol Leader of the Green Hornets assisted by Marla Fullerton. The Historian is Laura Martin; Treasurer, Nancy Myers, and Scribe, Donna Mack.

Also at the earlier meeting, Libbie Cain, a Cadette, talked to the girls about Cadette scouting. This was a requirement on the My Troop Badge.

The Space Angels worked on the Magic Carpet and planned a Scout's Own The Flying Saucers completed the My Troop Badge and planned games for the Valentine Party. The Green Hornets made chalk drawings for the Drawing and Painting Badge and planned the Flag Ceremony for the Valentine's Party.

A Brownie troop of Horace Mann School met Feb. 2.

The Pledge was led by Chris Saunders and the Brownie Promise by Rebecca Fisher.

The girls learned how to set the table properly.

The final portion of the meeting was spent playing games and singing songs.

The leaders are Mrs. Evelyn Stanton and Mrs. Berna Dean Lamm.

Short Space Exposure Would Not Be Fatal

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force scientist says spacemen could survive exposure to the vacuum of space if they are rescued quickly.

Scientists earlier believed that the pressure difference would cause the blood to boil and possibly cause the body to explode.

Alfred G. Koestler, however, says chimpanzees have returned to good health after 3½ minutes in a simulated space environment.

Koestler, director of a chimp research program at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M., said in a lecture Tuesday at the school of aerospace medicine here that chimps that have been breathing pure oxygen are suddenly exposed to the vacuum of a simulated 150,000-foot altitude during tests at Holloman. Of 18 involved, he said, only one died. Others returned to normal work routines within from a few seconds to 40 minutes. Recovery was complete within four hours, he added.

Kansas Takes Over Lead In Big Eight Cage Race

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Defending champ Kansas took over the lead in Big Eight basketball by pounding Nebraska 84-58 Tuesday night at Lawrence and Kansas coach Ted Owens thought the 11th-hour eligibility loss of Bob Wilson may have fired up his club.

"The first the squad heard about Wilson was at our meeting 2½ hours before the game," Owens said. "It just might have fired them up to play a little harder. They think an awful lot of Bob.

"This was our best effort of the season," said the Kansas coach. "They all did a terrific job. Wilson fell just a wee bit shy of eligibility. I'm sure glad we found out about it before the game instead of after."

The second semester started Monday at Kansas. Had Wilson played, the Jayhawks would have been forced to forfeit the game later. He is a 6-foot-7 senior.

The 7th-ranked Jayhawks now have a 5-1 league record, just a half game ahead of Nebrask's 5-2 mark. Kansas State and Colorado are tied for third at 4-2, so it's still a four-team title chase.

Kansas plays at K-State in an important Saturday afternoon televised game. Owens admitted his team looked good in beating Nebraska and in whipping Iowa State by 18 points Saturday at Ames, but he added:

"If we get confident, we'll die at Manhattan."

Nebraska was fresh from a near-perfect 67-59 victory at K-State.

"Being high at K-State had an effect on us," said Nebraska coach Joe Cipriano, "but I'm not making excuses. KU did a good job on defense."

The Huskers went almost 10 minutes without a field goal in the first half and from a 13-12 lead they went to a 19-30 deficit.

It became a 51-27 runaway when Nebraska went without a field goal the first six minutes of the last half, while 6-foot-8 Vernon Vanoy and 6-6 Rodger Bohnenstiehl dominated things. KU's biggest lead was 80-46.

Ron Franz, rugged 6-7 senior, had 16 of his 18 points the first half while Jo Jo White, playmaking backliner, scored 16. Kansas hit 52 per cent, Nebraska 29, and the Kansas defense forced 16 Husker errors. Nate Branch scored 11 for NU.

"It's funny we draw so well at Lawrence when we lose so bad," said Cipriano wryly. A crowd of 17,000 watched Kansas set a Big Eight scoring mark in a 110-73 blasting at Lawrence last year this time it was 16,000.

In the other league game, Oklahoma made its record 3-4, a half-game behind fifth-place Iowa State, with a 75-65 victory at Missouri, now 1-6. Oklahoma was out-shot from the field and Don Sidle was held to 13 points but OU made 15 consecutive free throws down the stretch to hold off the desperate Tigers, led by Ron Coleman's 26 points.

Boston's Old Pros Still In Running

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minute-men Wally Jones and Billy Cunningham have kept the Philadelphia 76ers on the run, but Boston's sprinting quarter-horses are still on the track.

Jones and Cunningham hit baskets in the final minute Tuesday night at Pittsburgh as the 76ers edged the San Francisco Warriors 126-123 and held their six-game lead over Boston in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division race.

At Cleveland, the torrid Celtics, led by Bailey Howell and Bill Russell, reeled off 41 points in the final quarter and blasted the Cincinnati Royals 138-123 for a 13-1 mark in their last 14 starts.

Elgin Baylor poured in 14 points and Jerry West 12 in a fourth-period rally that shot Los Angeles past New York 122-117; Eddie Miles came off the bench to spark Detroit to a 98-90 decision over Chicago and Richie Guerin led St. Louis to a 109-96 victory over Baltimore in other games.

The 76ers, trailing 123-122 with less than a minute remaining, took the lead on Jones' jump shot and wrapped up their 50th victory in 58 games on Cunningham's layup with 42 seconds to play.

The Celtics turned an eight-point lead into a 115-95 margin in the final four minutes of the final period, with Howell and player-coach Russell leading the charge. Howell topped Boston scorers with 28 points. Russell had 24 points and 24 rebounds.

Down by 11 points midway in the last quarter at New York, the Lakers closed the gap in the next 2½ minutes as Baylor and West outscored the Knicks 10-2, then moved in front to stay on West's jumper with 1:40 remaining. Baylor scored 34 points over-all and West added 27. Dick Barnett paced New York with 27.

Detroit blew a 14-point lead at Chicago before Miles reeled off nine straight points, giving the Pistons a 94-88 bulge with less than two minutes to play. Miles and Dave Bing each scored 21 points for Detroit, two less than the Bulls' McCoy McLemore.

Guerin, St. Louis' player-coach, dropped in 25 points as the Hawks built a 25-11 first-quarter lead at St. Paul, Minn., and breezed the rest of the way.

Tempers Flare In Mat Test

Tempers kinda got out of hand at the wrestling matches Tuesday night, when the feud between heavyweight Bob Brown and Promoter Gust Karras flamed up after the tag-team event. Karras, a former pro matman, was roughed up by Brown before it was broken up and no apologies were exchanged between the two.

The event saw Gillotine Gordon, Brown, Earl Maynard, Lee Henning, Francisco Rios, The Viking, Sonny Myers and Victor Rivera, all going at it in a no-time limit event. Rios was first out of the ring in three minutes and 30 seconds; Henning followed in four minutes and 10 seconds; Maynard was ganged up on and went out of the ring in five minutes and 15 seconds; Myers was next in seven minutes and 15 seconds and five seconds later Gordon went over the ropes. The Viking and Brown tried to double up on Rivera, but the young wrestler was too quick and Viking went over the ropes after eight minutes.

It was 11 minutes when Rivera succeeded in "pitching" Brown out.

The feature event a tag-team match between Gordon and Brown against Maynard and Myers, went to the latter team. Gordon succeeded in body slamming Myers and followed with a press to win the first fall in 10 minutes and 30 seconds. Maynard in the second period came into the ring and won over Brown with a Maynard reverse special, in three minutes and 25 seconds. Then Myers took "picks" on Gordon and put a sleeper hold to him for the fall in five minutes and 45 seconds.

The match scheduled a no-time limit was to continue until the opposing team was unable to carry on. Gordon couldn't answer the bell to meet Myers to start the fall and Gordon and Brown were the losers.

Brown couldn't take being on the losing end twice in a row and his temper flared and he rushed Promoter Karras. It didn't last long, but no apologies were heard passed between the two.

In a special event, Henning was disqualified in his one-fall, 20-minute time limit match against The Viking. The Viking was declared the winner after 16 minutes and 30 seconds.

The opening match of the evening a one-fall 15-minute event, was won by Rivera over Rios in 11 minutes and 40 seconds. A back flip and press brought the victory to Rivera.

Clay Hopes He Can 'Convert' Terrell

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay apparently has run out of opponents able to milk a dime from closed circuit television and may have to hang up his gloves altogether if he converts some of the contenders to his Muslim faith.

The ring fighting Muslim minister, who handed Ernie Terrell a vicious beating with his fists and a taunting tongue lashing Monday night, now says he hopes to convert Terrell.

"I will some day," he said Tuesday.

The fighter who has renounced "my slave name of Cassius Clay" for the Arabic Muhammad Ali, said he wouldn't fight another Muslim.

"Five of the contenders right now are just about Muslims," he said. "I wouldn't fight a brother Muslim. I would retire and give the title to them."

Clay once again mentioned Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz., Canadian champion George Chuvalo, and 23-year-old Thad Spencer as his next three title opponents but said that former champion Sonny Liston, if in shape, was the best of them all.

Clay said he had received an invitation from the king of Saudi Arabia to make a pilgrimage to Mecca and would go in about two weeks. Then he said he wanted to fight again in 10 weeks.

His program could be Folley, the 34-year-old, No. 2 contender, at Detroit in April. Spencer in San Francisco in May or June. Chuvalo, whom he beat in 15 rounds in 1965, at the Montreal Exposition a month or so later, and possibly Liston, whom he stopped twice, in Sweden in late summer.

For his lop-sided victory over the half-blinded, blood-smeared and head-lumped Terrell, Clay will collect about $750,000. Terrell may earn about $250,000.

A major portion of the income will come from the closed circuit television both here and abroad.

"But right now, there's no opponent who can draw more than a dime on closed circuit," said Bob Arum, an attorney for an official of Main Bout, Inc., which has the ancillary rights for Clay's fights.

Cardinals Smash By Eugene 93-49

Fired up for a victory, the Tipton Cardisals smashed Eugene, 93-49, in a non-conference contest at Tipton Tuesday night. Tipton now holds 15 wins for the season, against three losses.

Eugene never had a chance as they were easily outscored in all four quarters. Tipton strong offense proved so effective they scored 30 points in the final period.

S-C Frosh Move Into Semi-Finals

The Smith-Cotton Freshman Tigers advanced to the Semi-finals of the Clinton Junior High Basketball tournament by soundly defeating the Warsaw Wildcats 51-26 in a first round game. Dennis Johnson led the Bengals scoring spree with 19 points.

Coach Wes Sanders' cagers took off with the opening gun and by the time the first period had ended they had taken a ten point lead, never to be headed again. In the second quarter, they continued their onslaught of the baskets and added another six points to their lead before the buzzer halted their spree at 25-9.

At the beginning of the second half the Wildcats tried to come back with their most productive quarter. Unfortunately, for the Warsaw quintet, the S-C powerhouse rocketed even further into the lead with a 16 point period. With a sizeable lead to coast on, the Tigers slowed down their torrid offensive pace in the final period, but continued their seamless defensive game to add a final two points to the new sizeable bulge.

The Tigers, now 9-3, advance to the Semi-finals against the winner of Wednesday's Clinton-Harrisonville tilt on Thursday at 8:30. The Bengals have easily defeated Clinton twice this year but have not seen the Harrisonville quintet in action.

Greyhounds Drop One More Game

The hapless Sweet Springs Greyhounds lost another game Tuesday night, this time to St. Paul's of Concordia, 74-33, in a contest at Concordia.

St. Paul's offensive tactics proved successful in the first period as they easily managed to outscore Sweet Springs. The Greyhounds bounced back in the second stanza, however, but were still behind. The third and fourth periods proved disastrous for Sweet Springs as they fell farther and farther behind.

Randy Kollmeyer sparked the scoring attack for St. Paul's with 18 points on eight field goals and two free throws. High for Sweet Springs was Fisher with 11 on five field goals and one charity toss.

In the B contest, the Greyhounds were again downed, 65-42. Dennis Meyer contributed 15 points for St. Paul's to lead their scoring. High for Sweet Springs was Gary Temple with eight.

St. Paul's will take on Concordia Public High in a contest Friday night on the Public High hardwoods.

Parenthood Laws Are Not Impossible

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —If parents don't limit the size of families voluntarily, then governments may have to pass laws to keep population down, a planned parenthood advocate has predicted.

Dr. Edmund W. Overstreet of the University of California Medical School said world food production showed no increase in 1965 for the first time in history. Yet, he added, world population increased by 65 million the same year.

Versailles Downed By Russellville

Russellville bounced back in the second half, Tuesday night, to defeat Versailles in a non-conference game, 70 - 62.

Versailles grabbed the lead in the first quarter of action, 13-11, then increased that small lead to five points, as they outscored Russellville in the second quarter, 19-16, taking the lead at the half, 32-27. The third quarter Russellville came back fired up to capture the lead for the first time as they outpointed Versailles, 22-12. This proved to be too much of a lead for Versailles to overcome as they were unable to regain the lead and Russellville came away with a 70-62 non-league victory.

High scorer for Russellville was Scrivner with 19 points. Denton led Versailles in scoring with 17 points.

Versailles won the B team game, 41-36. High for Versailles was Benny with 12 points. High scorer for Russellville was Scott with 13 points.

The next game for Versailles will be Friday night when they play Camdenton in a conference game at Camdenton.

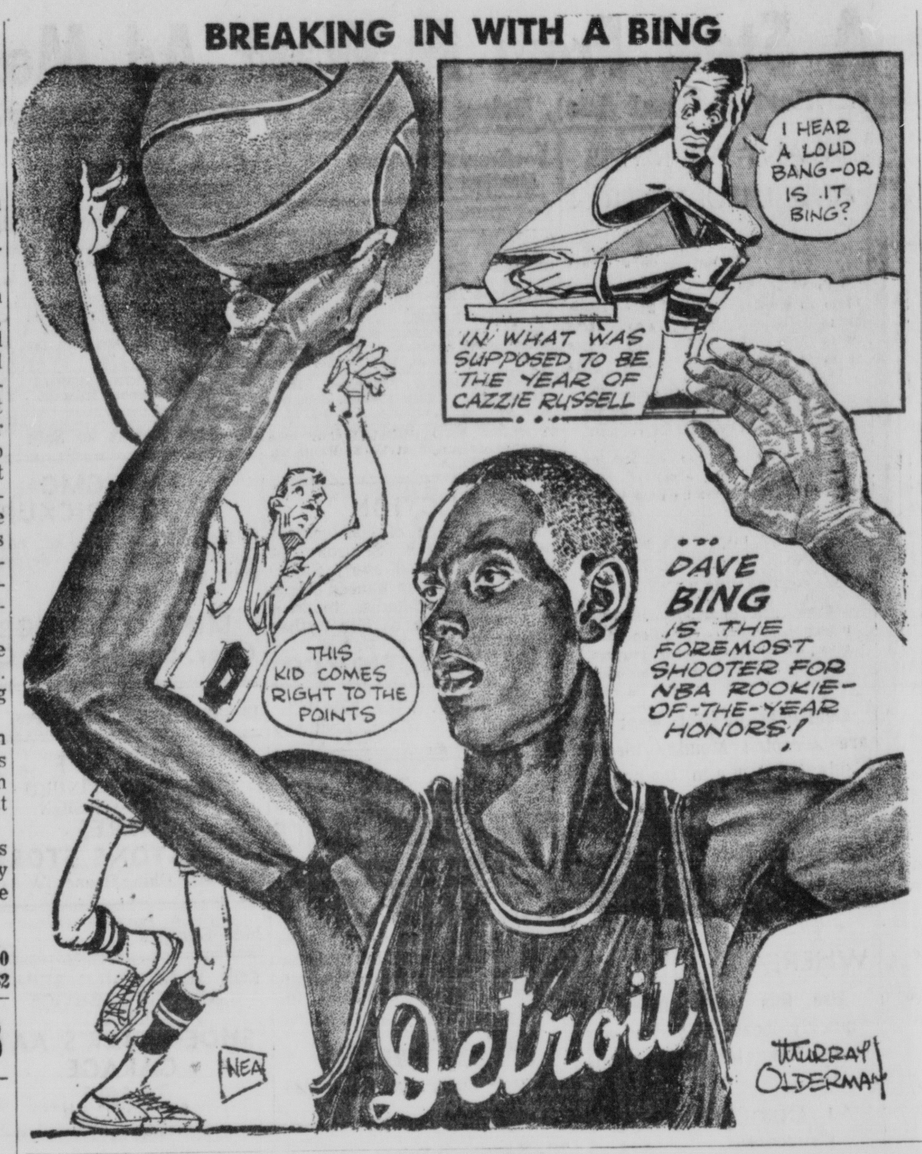
BREAKING IN WITH A BING



EYE MAKE-UP COLOR-SCHEMED to a woman's eye and hair coloring makes her eyes sparkle naturally with a color glow that is in perfect balance with her total coloring. This new color and contour kit contains a shade for contour definition, a highlighter and two fashion eye shadows for emphasis.

Amputation Means More Adjustment

STILLWATER, Okla, (AP) — Nearly three years after her left leg was amputated, 24-year-old former beauty queen Roberta Scott is able to look back and say, "I lost my leg and found my life."

A tall, vivacious brunette, she has returned to college, drives a car, water skis and, as she puts it with a smile, dances a "one-legged jerk."

Now Miss Scott wants to go to Vietnam to help crippled American servicemen prepare for job discrimination or other handicaps to readjustment which they may encounter.

"But I will tell them even on one leg you can kick those doors down if you want to badly enough," says the former Miss Tulsa. "It takes only one leg to climb if you really want to get somewhere."

So far, the Defense Department has ignored Miss Scott's request to go to Vietnam. Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., is working in her behalf.

In 1964, when she was a senior at Oklahoma State University, Miss Scott lost her leg to bone cancer.

"For the first time in my life I had to take stock of myself. I had to ask myself, 'Roberta, who do you want to be? Do you want to die or do you want to live?'

"I decided I was not going to become a vegetable. And for the first time in my life I felt I was really living," She recalls.

People In The News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)— California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who proposes slashing state budgets by 10 per cent, got a birthday cake Tuesday in honor of his 56th birthday.

Ten per cent of the cake was missing. And the governor never got a chance to blow out 56 candles. Counters said 10 per cent of those were missing too.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Police released singer Eartha Kitt under $25 bond after arresting her at an apartment building in downtown Houston Tuesday.

Officers charged her with "failure to move on" as ordered.

They reported a man collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack as he stepped from an elevator.

Police said the singer kept asking if they had tried artificial respiration and would not leave.

The entertainer, now appearing at a night club here, told reporters: "I wanted to help if I could. I have had some nursing training."

LONDON (AP) — The Beatles have contracted to go on making records as a group for nine more years.

The contract was signed Tuesday by the Beatles' manager, Brian Epstein, and by Sir Boseph Lockwood, chairman of the E.M.I. Record.

The company released the first Beatles' record, "Love Me Do," in October 1962. It sold a modest 100,000 copies. Since then, their records have sold the equivalent of 180 million singles.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal court suit accuses actress Hedy Lamarr of lifting copyright information from magazine articles for her autobiography, "Ecstasy and Me."

Hollywood writer Gene Ringgold filed the suit Tuesday in Los Angeles asking damages for alleged copyright infringements.

Ringgold's suit said the article appeared in the July 1965, issue of Screen Facts.

As defendants, the suit names Miss Lamarr, writer Leo Guild, publishers Macfadden-Bartell Corp., Bartholomew House and two publishers executives.

MANILA (AP) — Doctors of Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos said today he was fully recovered from his Jan. 24 gall bladder operation and said he would leave the hospital in a few days.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Author Louis Lomax, 44, has been sued for divorce by his wife, Wanda, 34, on grounds of cruelty.

The suit was filed in Superior Court Tuesday.

Mrs. Lomax was treated for a cut lip at Hollywood Receiving Hospital last October. She told police that Lomax had struck her. The couple was married in April 1965.

Pleasant Hill WSCS Meets In January

The Pleasant Hill Women's Society Christian Service held their monthly meeting Jan. 18 at the home of Mrs. Pauline Garrett.

Mrs. N. C. Leiter reviewed several chapters of the book, "Christian Being and Doing." She will continue this review at the February meeting.

A dinner was served at noon by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Truman Barton.

Mrs. E. E. Barrick presented the afternoon program entitled "Christian and Hindu Dialogue With a Difference."

Mrs. Leiter, president, presided over the business meeting. Thirteen members and one visitor, Mrs. Ruth Meyer, attended.

New Twist Ahead For TV Star

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Televisi°n Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Andy Griffith has found a producer who wants him to make family movies. For that reason he will quit weekly television after his eighth season.

In recent years the film industry allowed Walt Disney to maintain a virtual monopoly in the production of movies for the entire family. Now it appears that the Disney Studio will be facing competition.

Between rehearsals for his CBS special for Feb. 21, Griffith disclosed that next season will be the last for "The Andy Griffith Show," despite the series' continued high ratings.

"I'll continue to do specials — three in three years," he said. "But I won't be doin' the series because I gotta make pictures for Universal, and I can't do both.

"The reason I'm doin' pictures is because Lew Wasserman asked me. He said he wanted to make family movies, and he wanted me to be in 'em.

"Now, nobody ever asked me to make a bunch of pictures before. It was always me askin' if I could make a picture for them. It's much better the other way."

Wasserman, head man of the MCA parent of Universal, apparently figures Griffith is a natural to capture the vast, largely overlooked family audience. The studio has made a mint with films starring Andy's longtime sidekick, Don Knotts — who appears on the special, along with Tennessee Ernie Ford.

"I figure for the first film I'd play a similar kind of man to what I play on television," Griffith remarked. "He wouldn't be a sheriff, but the same kind of fellow, basically.

"I'd do one by myself, then one with Don. If they're smart, they'll put us together all the time, because we do well as a team. I'd like to do all kinds of roles, even a heavy. I think I'd be a pretty good heavy and Don could do one, too. That boy's a right good actor.

"The contract with Universal is a long one — 10 years. Of course if the first couple of pictures don't make it, they'll throw me outa the studio. But I'm willin' to take my chances."

Griffith seems as little changed by his success as any show-business millionaire can be. He lives quietly in a Toluca Lake home with his wife and two children and returns to his North Carolina beginnings whenever he gets a work break. He appears at Hollywood social gatherings only under duress.

Rebekah Lodge Installs New 1967 Officers

Otterville's newly elected officers of the Ephrate Rebekah Lodge No. 16 were installed at a special installation ceremony in Otterville on Jan. 23, by Mrs. Margaret Ellen Hausen, District Deputy, president of Lincoln Rebekah Lodge No. 822.

Her installing staff, composed of Past Noble Grands, were: Mrs. Helen Brown, Mrs. Ethel Yancey, Mrs. Mary Rogers, Mrs. Alta Kullman, Mrs. Ruth Waldberger, all of Lincoln, and Mrs. Margurettee Breshears, Warsaw.

Lincoln I.O.O.F. members, Henry Kullman, Ed Kullman and V. Miller, were also present for the occasion.

Following the ceremony, a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served in the lodge dining room.

BOAC Stops Flights

LONDON (AP) — British Overseas Airways Corporation said today it has canceled 96 flights scheduled between April and June because a shortage of skilled engineers is holding up winter overhaul of its planes. Most of the flights were between London and New York.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, center, has signed a proclamation setting February as Missouri "eye donor month," part of a nation-wide fight against blindness. In the picture are, from left, Haywood Snipes, Poplar Bluff, chairman of the Missouri Lions Club Sight Conservation Committee and past district governor of Lions International; J. Raymond Bills, Jefferson City, chairman of the Council of Governors for District 26, Lions International; Gov. Hearnes; Francis Knollmeyer, Linn, member of the Missouri Lions Sight Conservation Committee and past district governor of Lions International; and Dr. Leo Landuis, head of the Lions Eye Tissue Bank at the University of Missouri Medical Center where he is special resident in ophthalmology. Missouri Lions co-sponsor the central eye bank at the University, which is headquarters for a chain of 59 donor eye collection sub-stations located in participating hospitals in the state. All eyes, regardless of age or condition at time of death, are useful in the eye bank program, which uses tissue for immediate surgery, or preserves it for emergency use. Some of the tissue is useful in research into disease processes in the eye.

'Lottery' Draft System Is Favored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Commission on Selective Service will recommend to President Johnson next week a lottery draft and the induction of younger men first, sources indicated today.

Informants said the commission has decided the draft must be continued, but needs a major revamping to eliminate inequities and uncertainties.

To do this, sources said, the panel will recommend that youths 18½ and 19 be eligible for the draft first, instead of men 24, 25 and 26 as now provided by the system. After registration and examination, the eligible youths would be included in a 1A pool and chosen for the draft by a lottery.

Informants said the commission plans to call for continuing student and other deferments, stipulating that after graduation a student again be included in the lottery pool and thus face the same exposure to the draft as younger men without deferments.

"The great problem with the present system is the great uncertainty that 18- and 19-year-old youths face," one informant said.

Defense Department statistics show the average draftee age last year was 20.3 years.

Such a switch long has been endorsed by the department, which contends that younger men make better soldiers and are easier to discipline and train. The department, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and others, have advocated varying versions of a lottery system.

Informants said to eliminate the "inequities that have to do with the present way of deciding who goes and who stays" commission members decided to recommend limiting autonomy of local boards.

They said the panel will urge Johnson to recommend setting up clear, uniform national standards for classifying all draft-age men and eliminating present reliance on the more than 4,000 local draft boards — each with varying interpretations of Selective Service guidelines.

In addition, commission members are known to favor a national drafting in place of the current procedure of establishing local quotas. This would insure that no area or locality would begin drafting men of a lower call priority until all other draft boards had exhausted the same category.

Johnson named the 20-member commission last summer and ordered it to make an exhaustive study of the draft in the wake of mounting student protests and draft calls. Since late 1964, about 650,000 youths have been drafted.

Informants said a final version of the commission report was mailed Tuesday to members, who may make final recommendations before the report goes to the President, probably next week. Sources said they expected no major changes.

Insiders said the bulk of the major decisions were reached well before the commission's initial reporting date Jan. 1, although actual drafting of the comprehensive study so far has led to a five-week delay.

Johnson is expected to use the commission's report as a basis for his recommendation to Congress, which must act by June 30 to extend key provisions of the present Selective Service law. The issue is expected to get its most thorough congressional hearing since the current law was passed in 1951.

Presiding Judge Has TV And Radio Stolen

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Robert B. Watts told police that a television set and a radio were stolen Tuesday from his home.

Judge Watts said the noontime robbery occurred as his 21-year-old son slept in a second-floor bedroom and a German Shepherd watchdog patrolled outside the house.

If a suspect is apprehended in the next few days he will be brought before the presiding judge of Northwestern Municipal Court — Robert B. Watts.

Analytical Tax Forms This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Your income tax return is going to tell Uncle Sam more than just how much tax you owe.

Statistics on income, population and a host of other social analyses will be compiled from the tax returns due by April 17. Information from your return might even be used in a federal check if you apply for a government job.

"If you think your income tax return is strictly confidential, you're mistaken," one congressional source said today, lining up with critics who say the government should be satisfied to learn what the taxpayer owes.

But the supplementary data processing will be even easier this year because every return will be read by computer.

It's against the law for an employe of the Internal Revenue Service to divulge the income, profits, losses and spending or any other information listed in tax returns, but this doesn't mean the data are always a secret.

Anyone may ask a district director of Internal Revenue whether you filed a tax return for a given year and the district director can say "yes" or "no" but divulge no further information.

But government agencies can obtain tax returns under provisions spelled out by IRS and executive orders. So can state taxing officials and some foreign governments with which the United States has tax treaties.

Three congressional committees — the House Ways and Means, the Senate Finance and the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation — have access to any IRS files.

For a federal agency to obtain a tax return, the request must be signed by the agency head and sent to the Internal Revenue commissioner who acts on the request himself. He must be satisfied that the reason given is legitimate.

The Senate Judiciary subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure found that federal agencies sought access to tax records for reasons including an investigation of an Air Force employe, a disbarment case, a Civil Service Commission inquiry into an application for a federal job and an investigation by the Federal Communications Commission of a radio station licensee.

Many of the statistics published by the federal government are derived from tax returns, and there are constant new proposals for extracting more information from them.

Would Like to 'Share'

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Most underclassmen at Princeton University expressing views in a student poll would like to share their classrooms with coeds.

A survey of 600 students showed that 49 per cent favored girls at Princeton and 44 per cent voted against them. Seven per cent had no opinion.

Most of the dissenters said the ladies would distract them from studying.

Letter Addressed To Prisoner Comes Back

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Willie James Foster is still in the Ohio penitentiary and that institution hasn't been moved, even though a letter didn't reach Foster at that address.

Common Pleas Judge George N. Kiroff mailed to Foster some court records that he had asked for. Foster is serving 10 to 25 years on an armed robbery charge from November 1965. He wrote the court asking for some of his records.

Judge Kiroff addressed them in care of Post Office Box 511, the address in Columbus given by Foster. Tuesday the judge got his letter back in the mail — marked "Moved, left no address."

Penitentiary officials, who confirmed that Box 511 was the prison address, said that Foster had not moved.

Alaska Is Topic of TV 'Special'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Alaska, our 49th state, one-fifth the area of the rest of the United States, has a population that would comprise a medium-size stateside city and a romantic, gold-dusted history.

It has magnificent scenery, the lifeline of its outposts is a small group of colorful bush pilots, fishing is its largest industry and there was a serious earthquake on Good Friday 1964.

Tuesday night a special program of the National Geographic Society on CBS tried to cram all this, plus a story of a family touring Alaska and some shots of wild life into a single hour. The results were predictable — a pack-jammed, disjointed travelogue notable for handsome shots of scenery and wildlife.

The program started out to report on the summer travels of a single family. We never got acquainted with the family since the producer suddenly started adding old pictures of the Yukon goldrush, colorful comments by the colorful bush pilots, films of bears catching salmon in a river. The result was hardly a satisfying, well-organized television program.

ABC, in a daytime game show launched this week, "Everybody's Talking," came up with an amusing and fresh idea. The producers taped the opinions of assorted men-on-the-street in Los Angeles about such subjects as Sigmund Freud and the Beatles. They chopped up the interviews and snippets are shown to the TV audience and three studio contestants. The idea was to guess, from the remarks, the names of the subjects.

One strong point of any game show is to have the home audience playing along with the contestants, and "Everybody's Talking" succeeds in this.

St. Paul's Lutheran Circles Meet

St. Paul's Lutheran LWML Circles met for their January meetings with the topic, "Sent With the Gospel".

The Eunice Circle met in the home of Mrs. Walter Kroenke with seven members and two visitors, Mrs. Carl Thiele and Mrs. Phillip Fisher present. Mrs. Viola Buchholz, gave the devotional reading with all members participating in the topic lesson. The circle project, "Education" was discussed and reports of shut-in visits were given.

The Rhoda Circle met at the home of Mrs. Clifford Koenig with eight members present. Mrs. Ralph Kreisel, co-chairman, led the devotion with Mrs. Melvin Schroeder leading the topic discussion. Chapters 3 and 4 from "The Altar Guild" were read and discussed.

The Rachel Circle met at the home of Mrs. William Hall with six members present. Guests were: Mrs. Robert Ackerman, and Mrs. Emma Oehrke. The devotional and topic was led by Mrs. Stanley Gertz.

The Rebekah Circle met in the education building with Mrs. Barbara Carwile as hostess. There were eight members and one guest, Mrs. Von Stroke, present. Mrs. George Buchholz, Sr., led the devotion and topic discussion.

The Elizabeth Circle met in the church basement with Mrs. Flora Albers as hostess. There were six members present. Mrs. Harold Bergman led the devotion and presented the topic. It was decided to package materials for missions sometime in February.

An appropriate poem from the Lutheran Women's Quarterly entitled "Would They Miss You" was read at each circle meeting and mites were collected for missions, and meetings closed with prayer.

U.S. Ship Ready For Departure

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The U. S. aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt was readied for an early departure from Cape Town today as its crew grumbled at being denied shore leave because of South Africa's racial restrictions.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman said the 2,000-ton carrier would sail at 6 p.m. today instead of Tuesday morning on its voyage home to Florida from Vietnam.

The spokesman said the ship was leaving early because it had finished taking on provisions and fuel. But it was believed an early departure was ordered because of growing unrest aboard the ship.

American authorities may also have been influenced by reports that about 100 crewmen in civilian clothes had sneaked ashore Sunday among the crowds of South Africans who visited the ship. Apparently they feared an embarrassing incident if other crewmen got into Cape Town and broke some of South Africa's strict apartheid (race segregation) laws.

Shore leave for the 4,000 men on the carrier, who include 400 Negroes, was canceled as the vessel approached Duncan Dock Saturday. American officials here said the reason was difficulty in arranging the leaves, an explanation Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster said did "not accord with the facts and therefore was quite unacceptable."

Both houses are in recess untill Tuesday afternoon. Hotel rooms in the capital city were filled Monday with delegates to several conventions.

Sedalia Is 'Host City' At Walla Walla Dinner

Gary Cooper, executive manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce received two letters last week concerning Sedalia.

The first was from the city manager of Walla Walla, Wash., Larry L. Smith, which follows:

"My wife and I wish to thank you for your cooperation in allowing us to use Sedalia as one of the 'host cities' for this year's annual Walla Walla Chamber dinner.

"We placed the placards in prominent places on the wall near our table and used some of the table itself. As it happened we had as guests at our table a couple who had been born in Missouri. We, therefore had others besides ourselves to boost your fine state.

"Before the dinner was served the four hundred people attending the dinner 'toured' the dining room. Therefore, not only our guests but those at all the other tables were made aware of the fact that Sedalia was one of the 'host cities.'

"Our sincere thanks to you."

Walla Walla always selects a city from somewhere in the United States for their Chamber banquet in which they have pictures of the city and products manufactured there on display.

The second letter is as follows:

"Dear Sir,

"Thorp Moving and Storage, your city, has become an owner-operator of Mini-Van Rental Utility Trailers which are manufactured by our company. Modern Move's System is exclusive to the Moving and Storage Industry. With permanent, lightweight, all aluminum trailers we feel it up-grades the 'gas station' style rental service.

"It is our wish to incorporate a local street map of each city represented in our Agency Directory. Sedalia will be included in the future Directory if your office will please send us such a map. We are sure you will agree that this will promote Chamber Services as well as our own.

It was signed Paul R. Larson, vice president.

Red Lion Inn Damaged

BENSALEM, Pa. (AP) — Fire caused an estimated $10,000 damages recently at historic Red Lion Inn.

The tavern where George Washington's army encamped in 1781 is located on what was the only road between Philadelphia, New York and Trenton in Washington's day. President John Adams also was reported to have lodged at the inn.

More Sidewalk Cafes

NEW YORK (AP) — If Mayor John V. Lindsay has his way, there will be many more sidewalk cafes throughout the city.

Licenses Commissioner Joel J. Tyler says Lindsay already has appointed a committee to increase outdoor dining facilities which now number about 50 sidewalk cafes, primarily in Greenwich Village and midtown Manhattan.

Guard Abuse Of Citizens Is Protested

MOSCOW, (AP) — An orderly crowd of 300 Russians massed outside the Red Chinese Embassy Monday protesting Red Guard abuse of Soviet citizens in Peking. Later a number of workers arrived and pounded on the door but the Chinese refused to admit them.

From Peking came reports of wild disorders at the airport; of militant young Red Guards mannandling East bloc diplomats, and of the last 50 dependents from the Soviet Embassy running a gauntlet of shouting and cursing Chinese to board a plane for Moscow.

The Japan Broadcasting Corp., in a dispatch from Peking, said foreign diplomats linked arms to wall off the Chinese as the dependents walked to the plane. It added that Red Guards pushed the wives of the French and Danish ambassadors to the ground.

The demonstration in front of the Chinese Embassy here came after 97 dependents, 60 of them children, arrived from Peking telling of having to pick their way through Red Guards shouting anti-Soviet slogans at the airport. They said Red Guards broke into one bus and beat some of the passengers, then pounded the sides of the plane before it took off Sunday.

When the first Russian demonstrators appeared Monday at the Chinese Embassy, they brought a written protest. An embassy official refused to accept it and said: "We are the true friends of the Soviet working people."

"We ought to send the tanks against the lot of you," one Russian shouted, but he was quoted by others. The demonstrators nailed the protest to an embassy gate.

The demonstration followed the opening of meetings throughout the Soviet Union to drum up anti-Chinese feeling.

Later, a group of workers from a car and truck factory arrived at the embassy and pounded on the door. One of them said: "We are not hooligans. We are just ordinary workers. We don't want to hit you. Just open the door."

Through the door, the Chinese said the embassy was closed and to take their protest to the Foreign Ministry to be transmitted through regular channels.

Possibility Of Building Laboratory

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A request for a new laboratory for the motor fuel tax collection division Monday raised the possibility of building a new central lab for all state agencies.

The request was made in the House Appropriations Committee hearing.

Friday, the Rolla School of Mines also requested a new laboratory and research center and the committee is now studying whether it is possible to do all laboratory tests and research work for the state agencies at the university or in a new central location in Jefferson City.

The Department of Civil Defense had surprisingly smooth sailing in the House Appropriations Committee. Usually this department receives close attention in making budget requests.

This year the department asks for one new employee to undertake a program with matching federal funds.

Civil Defense Director Col. James H. Bash, cited work the department did in the recent tornado disasters in administering emergency assistance in St. Louis and Orrick, Mo.

Included in the budget request as a $1,500 item for an architectural and feasibility study on construction of an emergency center for the state government to operate from in event of an all out war on national catastrophe.

Bash told the committee the study would include the necessary radiation protection factor, who should be admitted to the shelter area, and what their duties would be.

He said the money would be matched by federal funds for a $3,000 total to conduct the study.

Civilian Operations Shaken Up

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) —Apparent flaws in the pacification program in South Vietnam brought about a reorganization of U.S. civilian operations two months ago, and officials of the program say they feel "a great deal of progress" is being made.

The Office of Civil Operations was formed Dec. 1 to coordinate the program after some experts complained the effort to win the minds and hearts of the Vietnamese peasantry had not kept pace with the improving military situation.

Analysts here believe military efforts alone can never overcome the long-term Viet Cong strategy of subversion and guerrilla warfare so long as the loyalties of the peasants remain in question.

Prior to the reorganization, the pacification program worked largely through the U.S. Agency for International Development, the U.S. Public Affairs Office and other civilian bodies which operated independently.

"Sometimes the left hand didn't know what the right was doing," said one American. "We were speaking with a multiplicity of voices without there necessarily being any coordination between them."

Deputy Ambassador William J. Porter was picked to head OCO. He put the various U.S. civilian operations under an integrated command.

Officials said it is too early to evaluate OCO's success, but they are pleased with the speed with which the new structure was organized.

Porter, 52, is regarded as a counterinsurgency expert. The British-born diplomat observed revolutionary development in Algeria, Palestine, Iraq and Lebanon. He came here in 1965 after a tour as U.S. ambassador in Algiers.

About 930 American civilians come under OCO and another 100 to 150 are expected in Vietnam soon. About 200 are based in Saigon and the rest are in the field.

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The "best band in Dixie" is the 110-member Dalton, Ga., high school band, which won the award recently for the second straight year during this city's Mardi Gras celebration.

Youngster Is Great At Lifting Weights

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — James Rundell says his 54-pound son, Sean, 6, can lift a 135-pound weight.

He added that he and his son recently had walked 50 miles in 15 hours, 49 minutes, and rode bicycles 100 miles "to show what an American boy can do."

Rundell, 38, said he owns a gymnasium in nearby Lomita. His son, oldest of four brothers and sisters, has been lifting weights since he was 4.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. James L. Goddard says the Food and Drug Administration is using undercover agents posing as students to halt the sale of LSD, amphetamines and sleeping pill "goof balls" on college campuses.

The FDA commissioner said the purpose of the undercover agents is to halt illegal sources of supply.

"We're not interested in making criminals out of our college students," he added Saturday in a television interview carried in Washington by WRC-TV.

WASHINGTON (AP) — National leaders of 10 student groups have signed a statement favoring a voluntary military service and an end to the military draft.

"We believe that this society will best be served in any necessary military activities by men who serve willingly," said the Eugene Groves, president of the statement, released Sunday by Eugene Groves, president of the U.S. National Student Association.

Although it did not specify alternatives to the draft, the statement said "urgent needs exist for young people to become involved in the elimination of such social ills as poverty, ignorance, racial discrimination and war."

Father-Son Team Active In Service

NEW YORK (AP) — When Steve Goldhammer was 11 years old, he used to watch his father, a Coast Guard pilot, flying around in a helicopter.

"We always lived near the base and he used to fly over the house and wave," Steve recalls. "Everytime he flew over I wished I was up there."

Ensign Steve Goldhammer, now 22, is up there these days flying with his father, Lt. Cmdr. Walter R. Goldhammer, 47, among several other pilots.

Cmdr. Goldhammer says he believes he and Steve are the only father and son on active flight duty in the Coast Guard.

The father has 27 years service. The son won his wings and ensign's bars Jan. 20, a day after he turned 22.

"It was a good birthday present for me," Steve said today.

The Goldhammers are based at Floyd Bennett Field in Brooklyn. They live in the New York suburb of East Meadow on Long Island.

As a matter of routine, officers are permitted to list preferences for duty assignments. Steve put down Floyd Bennett Field and got it.

Cmdr. Goldhammer enlisted in the Coast Guard in 1939, and served as an enlisted pilot guarding convoys in World War II. He won his commission as an officer in 1945, and has 8,000 hours flying experience in both fixed-wing aircraft and helicopters.

He and Steve have had training missions together, but Steve does not always fly with his father on these missions.

The commander is one of several senior pilots helping Steve make the transition into the new HH52 singie-engine, jet-turbine amphibious helicopter.

Steve says his father did not pressure him into becoming a Coast Guard pilot.

"It was my own desire," he explained. "When I was 11 I decided I'd like to make that my career."

Steve wanted to fly so much that he dropped out of Miami University of Ohio after two years to enlist in the Coast Guard and eventually win acceptance into the Coast Guard aviation cadet program; which was begun in 1964.

"My prime interest in enlisting was becoming a pilot," he said. "This is the only reason I quit school."

Cmdr. Goldhammer, who went to the Pensacola Naval Air Training Station to pin wings on his son when he was graduated, says today: "I was proud of him. I was glad to see him do it."

Loans For Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development announced Monday reservation of loans for these college construction projects:

Hays, Kan., $500,000 to Fort Hays Kansas State College, for addition to student union.

Nevada, Mo., $990,000 to Cottey College, for dormitory and student union.

Two Priests Upset Plans Of A Burglar

CHICAGO (AP) — A burglar hadn't reckoned on meeting two priests when he entered the rectory of St. Brendan's Roman Catholic Church.

The Revs. William J. Quinlan and Gerald Millan surprised the man on the second floor of the rectory Monday.

Father Millan, who stands about 6 feet 4, struggled with the burglar, Father Quinlan said, while he grabbed a baseball bat and swatted the intruder a few times.

The priests said the man dropped the wallet and watch he was holding, leaped out the window into a snowdrift and fled.

Rio Vista Bridge Put Back In Order

RIO VISTA, Calif. (AP)—The Rio Vista Bridge on state highway 12 over the Sacramento River, knocked out of commission by an Italian freighter Jan. 12, is open again to traffic.

About 200 attended reopening ceremonies Monday for the two-mile span. Its closure, the Chamber of Commerce estimated, had reduced retail trade in this town of 4,000 by 85 per cent.

A permanent section to replace the damaged one will be floated into place in about three months.

The Italian freighter Ilice missed the open draw section on a foggy night and rammed into a tower.

The state has filed suit for $600,000 damages against the captain and owners of the ship and the bar pilot who was aboard.

Retirement Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Farmers Home Administration today announced preliminary approval of a $195,000 loan to Retirement Homes, Inc., Cuba, Mo.

It would provide 24 one-bedroom apartments for elderly in the Crawford County town. The apartments would rent for $45 a month, with heat and water included in the rent.

Canal Treaty Talks Near Third Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiations between the United States and Panama over a new Panama Canal treaty are nearing the end of their third year with no sign an agreement may be reached soon.

Negotiators for the two nations went to work in April 1964, shortly after Panamanian mobs stormed the U.S.-occupied Canal Zone. The riot cost the lives of 21 Panamanians and 4 U.S. soldiers and the two nations briefly severed diplomatic relations.

President Johnson announced in September 1965 that a treaty was being negotiated to replace the 1903 pact which allowed the United States to operate the Canal Zone by paying $1.93 million annually to Panama.

Secrecy has shrouded the negotiations at various sites since then. Officials for both sides have said that's the way they want it.

The controversial nature of the issue — and past political reaction to various proposals on how to handle the vital canal — make confidential negotiations necessary, say sources in both nations.

Even the precise issues at stake in the talks never have been made public. But it is assumed that Panama is asking:

—More money from the United States.

—A greater share in the administration of the canal.

—Higher shipping tolls if necessary to produce greater revenue for Panama.

—Total Panamanian sovereignty over the Canal Zone.

In his 1965 speech, Johnson all but promised that the United States would accede on the sovereignty issue, saying the proproposed route is said to be in tively recognize Panama's sovereignty over the area of the present Canal Zone."

But the United States also is known to be considering two other routes for a sea-level, middle-American crossing. One proposedr rute is said to be in Colombia; the other in Nicaragua and a portion of Costa Rica.

Enough Redheads

BERLIN (AP) — There may be plenty of blond-haired people in Germany, but there also are enough redheads in East Germany to produce hygrometers. The official East German news agency reported that a factory that makes the instruments for measuring air moisture advertised for red hair and received so many packages it can make hygrometers for five years. Red hair is used because it is more sensitive to moisture.

Engineers Explain Shortcuts

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two engineers involved with the Apollo man-to-the-moon program said the pressure of meeting schedules tempts engineers to take short cuts and choose superficial answers to problems.

Their remarks, contained in technical papers released at an American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics conference underway today at Cocoa Beach, were written before the Apollo 1 tragedy and in no way referred to the accident that killed three astronauts.

But the opinions, expressed by two engineers with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., echoed one of the most frequently heard criticisms of the man-to-the-moon program:

The pressure to meet schedules — launch schedules, delivery schedules and test schedules — should not be a factor when a mistake can cause injury or death, one said.

"Because meeting schedule is of prime importance, there is a natural tendency for test engineers and others who influence his task to choose the most superficial answer to a problem," said Daniel H. Driscoll Jr., test laboratory chief at Marshall's Systems Test Division.

"In a program where millions of dollars worth of equipment is involved and where a mistake could cause injury or death, pressure to meet unrealistic schedule dates should not be a factor," agreed Jesse N. Bradley, a Marshall test engineer.

"Pressure tempts people to compromise and to take short cuts," Bradley said in a paper about electrical systems for ground testing of large rockets.

Bradley suggested that test programs would have more success if only one shift of personnel did the work.

Ban Put On Movie

BOMBAY, India (AP) — "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" The Indian board of film censors has refused to grant an exhibition certificate for the film version of the Edward Albee play. The 12-member board gave no reason for refusal, but without the certificate the film can't be shown in India.

Check For Link In Two Death Cases

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Police are probing for any possible link between the slayings of a Saginaw educator and his wife and the killings of another prominent couple only a mile away.

The bodies of Karl Middeldorf, 63, and his wife, Gertrude, 62, were discovered in their home Sunday—three days after a doctor and his wife were found slain.

A daughter-in-law, Mrs. Arnold Middeldorf, 35, stopped by on her way from church and found Middeldorf slumped across an upstairs bed with his hands and feet bound with cord. He had been stabbed in the back with a kitchen knife and a plastic bag was wrapped around his head.

An autopsy showed he had been suffocated and then stabbed, said William Shea, the coroner.

Mrs. Middeldorf's nude body was found in a downstairs bathtub. She had been drowned.

The bodies of a prominent Saginaw physician, Dr. Archer Claytor, 73, and his wife, Marie, were discovered in heir $50,000 ranch-style home last Thursday. Both had been shot in the back of the head, with a pillow used to muffle the sound. Their hands were tied behind them.

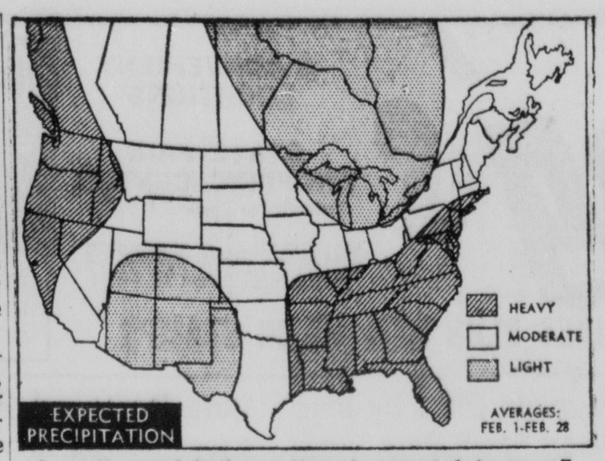
The Claytors were Negro, the Middeldorfs white.

Robert Currie, Saginaw County prosecutor, would not speculate on the possibility of any relationship between the slayings.

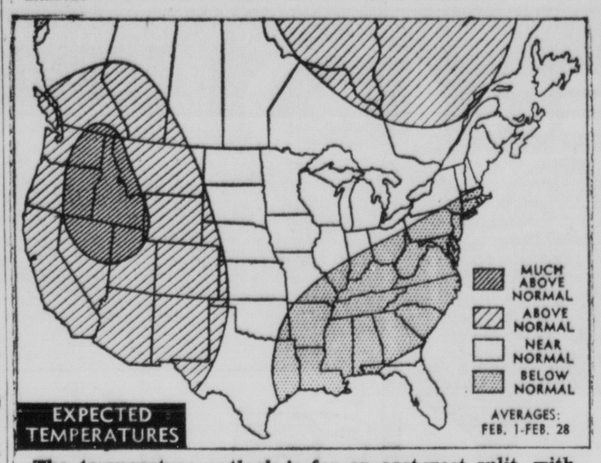
Robbery may have been the motive in the Middeldorf slayings, Currie said, because an empty bank money bag and an empty jar which may also have contained money were found in the home.

In the Claytor killings, no money was reported missing and the home bore no signs of having been disturbed.

The locale of both slaying cases is a racially mixed neighborhood in Saginaw, an east-central lower Michigan city of 98,200 residents.



A spotty precipitation pattern is expected to prevail, heavier than usual in the Northwest and Southeast and drier than normal for the Southwest and Upper Great Lakes.



The temperature outlook is for an east-west split, with lower than usual readings prevailing in the East and Southeast, and above in the Pacific Coast and Mountain states.

Two Research Grants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service announced Monday approval of two research grants to two Missouri institutions.

One was for $16,000 to Washington University of St. Louis for the second year of a three-year project, "Planning of Coronary Thrombosis Clinical Study," under Dr. Sol Sherry.

The other was $10,168 to the University of Missouri for the first year of a project, "Bacteriophage Typing of Bacteriuric Escherichia Coli," under Dr. Joseph T. Parisi.

Cure For Alcoholism

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — The hallucinatory drug LSD is being used by Czechoslovak authorities as a possible cure for alcoholism, according to official radio stations monitored by Radio Free Europe. The reports said that Czechoslovakia, which manufactures its own LSD, is equipping a sanatorium for alcoholics in southern Bohemia.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — More than 20,000 students massed in the heart of Jakarta today to again demand an investigation of President Sukarno's part in the attempted Communist coup in October 1965.

The students in a statement said the president is no longer acceptable and demanded that Congress bring him to trial if he was involved in the coup. The rally blocked a visit Sukarno had planned to a hospital about 200 yards away for a checkup.

Congress is to meet in early March. Military leaders, headed by the government chief, Gen. Suharto, are campaigning to get Sukarno out of office and out of the country before it convenes.

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Police say pro-Peking Italian Communists may be planning a nationwide terror campaign to bomb military bases and shoot leading members of Italy's pro-Moscow Communist party.

Investigators said arms caches were discovered over the weekend in Milan and in Palermo, Sicily. Among the dynamite sticks and weapons was a high-powered rifle with a telescopic sight.

LONDON (AP) — An unsuccessful candidate for the British Parliament has taken up belly dancing.

Elisa Sheriff, a stunning brunette, does her wiggling at a Turkish restaurant but she hasn't lost her interest in politics.

"Belly dancing brings me the cash I need to realize my political ideals," said Miss Sheriff, 27.

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — King Savang Vatthana dedicated the site of the Nam Ngum Dam Sunday, the nation's first major dam and its largest and most hopeful engineering project.

The dam is a project of the International Committee of Development of the lower Mekong River basin. Located 60 miles north of Vientiane, it is expected to produce 630 million kilowatt hours of electricity annually starting in 1971.

Submarine Donated To Museum Treasures

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—The Navy Department has donated a submarine to the National Museum of Transport. Officials say the former training craft will be docked in the Mississippi River at East St. Louis, Ill.

James Reed of the southwest regional port district said Monday that the submarine, the USS Cero, is now in "moth balls" in the Great Lakes area.

Reed said the submarine will be floated from the Great Lakes, down the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers to East St. Louis.

Million B. C. -- Revisited

Funny thing about cavewoman fashions. They get briefer as modern history marches on. Take the movie "One Million B.C." for example. In a 1940 version, Carole Landis, at left with Victor Mature, wore an animal skin that is long compared to many a miniskirt today. But in a current remake of the same movie, Raquel Welch, at right, wears skimpy skins that indicate a major animal famine in her era.

WILD MAN of today's film before he is tamed by gentle Raquel of the Shell People, is John Richardson, below left, who looks like he could use some greasy kid stuff. Below center, Raquel, portraying Loana, teaches the women of Richardson's tribe how to keep their heads above water in the local pool. At bottom right, a group of wild men show they are only as wild as the company they keep, as waitresses from a hotel near the movie set serve them refreshments during a break in filming.

Another Amendment Anticipated

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Within weeks the U.S. Constitution is expected to get its 25th amendment. It would provide transfer of power if the president became disabled.

And it would provide for filling a vacancy in the office of the vice president.

To date, 36 state legislatures have ratified the presidential disability and succession amendment. Two more must do so. The Constitution requires approval by three-fourths — 38 — of the legislatures.

The amendment has not been rejected so far by any legislature that has considered it.

The author of the proposal in the Senate, Birch Bayh, D-Ind., predicts the amendment will gain the votes it lacks by the end of March. It goes into effect automatically with the 38th ratification.

A spokesman for the American Bar Association, which recommended the amendment and has been watching its progress, predicted its quick approval, too. Congress gave its final approval in July 1965.

Bayh said in an interview the amendment "doesn't fill all the gaps" in the Constitution on disability and succession "but it fills the two most important and glaring ones."

The first is the lack of a procedure by which the vice president can take over the duties of the presidency if the president becomes so disabled he cannot handle them.

The second is a means for filling immediately the office of vice president when the office becomes vacant for any reason.

Strong public concern about vice-presidential vacancies developed after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in 1963 and Vice President Johnson became president. The nation was without a vice president until after the 1964 elections, when Hubert H. Humphrey won the office.

Next in line for the presidency before then were Speaker of the House John W. McCormack, then 72, and the president pro tempore of the Senate, Sen. Carl Haydn of Arizona, then 86.

The question of presidential disability came up most recently when President Johnson underwent gall bladder and throat surgery last November.

At that time, Johnson and Humphrey used a procedure under which Humphrey became acting president while Johnson was under anesthesia. The arrangement was identical to that used by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon during Eisenhower's illnesses.

The amendment provides that the vice president would take over as acting president if the president stated in writing he was unable to carry out the duties of the office. The vice president also could take over if a majority of the heads of executive departments sent Congress a declaration of presidential inability.

The president would resume power by sending Congress a declaration that he was again able to serve. This could be overridden if the vice president and a majority of the executive heads told Congress within two days the president was unable, and if Congress concurred by a two-thirds vote.

Vacancies in the vice presidency would be filled on nomination by the president, subject to confirmation by Congress.

States which have yet to ratify the amendment are Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, South Carolina, South Dakota, and Texas.

Girl Scout Notes

The Senior Girl Scout troop met Jan. 19, at the home of the troop's adviser, Mrs. Bob Fingland.

The girls spent their meeting putting the envelopes together for the volunteers for the March of Dimes.

Refreshments were served.

The Brownie troop of Horace Mann School met Jan. 19.

Instead of the regular meeting, the troop was taken to the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. where they toured the operations. This was an educational trip for the troop. Afterwards the girls were returned to the school, where parents picked them up.

The leaders are Mrs. Stanton and Mrs. Lamm.

At the Jan. 10 meeting, Mrs. Louis Temple Jr. taught the girls several new Girl Scout songs.

Jeanette Davis made a report on our country's flag. Christy VanDyne told about the Statue of Liberty. Mrs. Smith explained the World Association Pin in detail, including the different parts of the emblems significance and the meaning. The troop was then given a short quiz.

The remainder of the meeting was spent working on badges. They also viewed movies of Mexico.

Troop leaders are Mrs. Orrin Smith, Mrs. James Schumaker, Mrs. Donald Carpenter and Mrs. Ed Hames.

Troop 353 of Horace Mann School met Jan. 23, with 32 members present.

The meeting was opened with the Girl Scout Promise and Laws.

The troop started on the badge Prints.

The meeting closed with the Friendship Circle.

Leaders are Mrs. Earl Thompson, Mrs. Ray Fisher, Mrs. William Starrett, and Mrs. Uvonne Balke.

Cadette troop 295 is in the process of taking the Red Cross First Aid Course under the instruction of Mr. Jerry Iuchs. The troop is learning how to treat minor wounds, the correct placement of bandages, artificial respiration, and several other First Aid needs. At the completion of the course, those qualifying will be tested and presented with the Junior Red Cross Card. The course will help complete the Emergency Preparetdness Challenge Preps which will put the girls closer to their First Class Rank.

Leaders are Mrs. Harold Lane and Mrs. Richard Spence.

Brownie Troop 307 met with an election of new officers for January and December. The results were: Ann Wagenknecht, President; Wanda Monsees, Secretary; and Melody Schreiner, Treasurer.

The girls made angels for their parents as Christmas presents. A Christmas party was held at the Bergmann home, with a gift exchange held.

Another meeting was spent packing boxes with cookies for the nursing homes and caroling to the patients.

During January, the troop toured the grounds of Smith-Cotton High School, and played games.

The troop will soon be busying itself by making animals from thread spools.

Troop leaders are Mrs. Harold Bergmann and Mrs. Clyde Sifford.

A BELL FOR AN KHE is the gift of Mrs. Gerry Swinehart of Tucson, Ariz. Hearing that the chaplain of the 1st Air Cavalry Division was looking for a bell for the base chapel at An Khe, South Vietnam, Mrs. Swinehart decided to contribute a beauty of an old locomotive bell awarded her late husband for public relations work on behalf of railroads. The 200-pound bell, which once cleared the way for a giant freight locomotive, is being shipped to Vietnam by air.

Wins Top Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and its stars, Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, won 1966's top honors in a poll of 312 movie critics by the Film Daily, a spokesman announced Sunday night.

The winner drew 106 votes to 31 for the runnerup, "The Russians are Coming, The Russians are Coming."

Kosygin In London For Discussions

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin arrived today for a week of talks on issues ranging from Vietnam to British-Soviet trade. Fog diverted his plane, and Prime Minister Harold Wilson had to race across country to Heathrow Airport to great him.

Kosygin's plane circled the city until Wilson, his wife, and Foreign Secretary George Brown arrived at Heathrow.

Diversion of the premier's flight from Gatwick Airport disappointed a group of demonstrators who waited there for 90 minutes with banners. One read "End Warsaw Pact and NATO Now." As officials rolled up the red carpet and took away the flowers, the demonstrators left.

The government arranged the strongest guard for any visitor since Nikita Khrushchev nearly 11 years ago. Various exile groups threatened to picket Kosygin wherever he went during his weeklong visit. A number of persons were rounded up as a precautionary measure.

Wilson drew up a packed schedule designed to show his guest as much of the island kingdom and its people as possible. But 18 hours were set aside for formal and informal talks.

Kosygin will visit a big electronic and computer corporation near London and a nuclear power station in Scotland. He will watch a Scottish League soccer match and dine with Queen Elizabeth II at Buckingham Palace. He will hold a news conference and lunch with leaders of British industry and with the top echelon of the opposition Conservative party.

After the brief welcome at Gatwick Airport and a 45-minute ride to London aboard the special train Brighton Belle, Kosygin was to rest for three hours before he first talks with Wilson at No. 10 Downing St.

The United States now has the largest regular armed force in the world, having passed the Soviet Union in total manpower at the close of 1966. The current U.S. Army-Air Force-Navy total is 484,000 higher than a year ago, according to Pentagon figures. Soviet military forces are reported to have shown a "very slight" increase during the same period. Red China, ranking third in combined military manpower, still has the largest army—2.25 million men at last report. Most of the U.S. buildup has been in the Army, scheduled to go from 1 million men in 1966 to 1.5 million if Congress approves President Johnson's budget message request for increasing the armed forces to 3,464,000 by June 1968

East Berlin Authorities Hold Student

BERLIN (AP) — Peter Feinauer, 27, an art student from Providence, R.I., has been held by authorities in East Berlin for the past four months, his mother said Sunday night.

Juergen Stange, a West Berlin lawyer representing Feinauer, said the East Germans are still investigating the case and have filed no charges. He said Feinauer was not accused of helping East Germans escape to the West.

Victoria Feinauer, a widow, said her son has been detained since Oct. 7. She said they came to West Berlin in 1959 and he studied art. Feinauer was born in Providence, attended high school there and is a Quaker, his mother said.

Four other Americans were released from East German prisons three days ago. One of the four, Mary Hellen Battle, 26, a theology student from Oak Ridge, Tenn., said Sunday a telegram from a young East Berlin man led to her four-year sentence on charges that she helped an East German try to escape. She served 14 months.

Two of the others, Frederick Matthews, 24, Elwood City, Pa., and Moses Reese Herrin, 25, Akron, Ohio, were jailed for helping East German refugees. William Lovett, 26, San Francisco, was imprisoned following a traffic accident.

Miss Battle said she received the telegram from the East Berliner Nov. 24, 1965.

"I had gotten to know him earlier in East Berlin," she said, "and I had made an appointment to see his mother that day, anyway, to bring her some things. I thought the telegram concerned that visit. So I went."

She said that when she met the man she learned for the first time that he had deserted from the army. She said she would not have gone to East Berlin if she had known that.

Miss Battle was arrested when she visited the man's mother. She said previous conversations with the man about an unsuccessful attempt he made to flee East Germany apparently helped to convict her.

Winter Wedding Unites Martha Shepp-James Finley

A setting of red gladioli and white chrysanthemums, pine and poinsettias formed the background for the wedding of Miss Martha Jo Shepp and Mr. James Dee Finley at half past seven o'clock, Friday evening, December 23, at the Methodist Church at Versailles.

White tapers glowed in two seven branch candelabra, entwined with Christmas greenery and tied with red velvet ribbon.

The Rev. Elston Hines performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shepp, Versailles. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Finley, also of Versailles.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Arthur Eickhoff, organist, played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Milton Arnold, Rolla, sister of the bridegroom, who sang, "One Hand, One Heart!" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Candles were lighted by Mr. Kirby Arnold, Rolla, and Miss Patty Foster, Albuquerque, N. M., nephew and niece of the bridegroom.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of candlelight bridal satin, fashioned in an Empire design, with bell sleeves and a controlled skirt trimmed with lace appliques. The detachable train which was also lace trimmed, fell from the shoulders. The bouffant veil was attached to a white petal headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of white roses. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Sparkle Dornan served as maid of honor. She wore a red velvet floor length gown, fashioned on Empire lines, with matching rose headpiece. She carried a nosegay of Fuji chrysanthemums and holly, tied with red velvet ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Miss Holly Slevin, Mrs. Cheri Burnett, Aurora, Ill., and Mrs. Bob Jones, whose gowns and flowers were identical to that of the maid of honor.

Flower girls were Miss Jodie Shepp and Miss Debbie Earnest, whose gowns were identical to those worn by the maid of honor. They carried white baskets tied with ribbon and scattered white chrysanthemum petals.

Serving as best man was Mr. Bob Jones, Jr., while groomsmen were Mr. Bill Washburn, Mr. Jim Dornan, and Mr. Jim Tracy Hughes. Ushers were Mr. Edward Shepp and Mr. Jerry Hughes.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shepp chose a blue, two-piece knit dress. Mrs. Finley, mother of the groom, selected a two-piece aqua blue dress suit. Their corsages were of white roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table, covered with a lace cloth, held a three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with red roses and topped with a pair of white doves carrying a wedding ring. An arrangement of red carnations and white chrysanthemums were flanked by red tapers in silver candelabra.

Assisting with the serving at the reception were Mrs. Dave Foster, Mrs. Jim Shepp, Mrs. Forest Moore and Miss Rita Gerhart. Mrs. Edward Shepp was in charge of the guest book.

For traveling, the bride chose a paisley wool dress with green accessories.

The bride, who is a graduate of Versailles High School with the class of 1964, holds a secretarial position in Columbia. Also a graduate of Versailles High School, the groom is a senior student at the University of Missouri.

The couple will reside in Columbia.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Forest Moore, Redding, California; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hutchison and children, Deepwater; Mr. and Mrs. Darrell McMillen and Mrs. Larry McMollister and family, Windsor; Mrs. Brenda Black and Mrs. Ben Cantwell, Independence; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Francis, Jefferson City; Mrs. Dale Papen, Rolla; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Crane, Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. John Crane, and son, California; Mr. Roger Uptergrove, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Shepp, Green Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Shepp, Green Ridge; Mrs. Sam White, Bellville, Illinois; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blackston of Indianaoplis, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. John Berry, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Arnold and sons, Rolla; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Foster and daughter, Albuquerque, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Arney, Sedalia; and SP-5 and Mrs. Edward Shepp, Waynesville.

May Recommend No Move For An Office

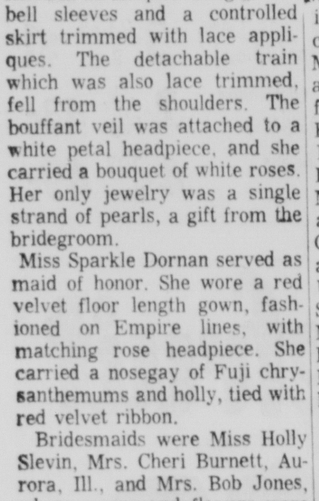
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John E. Moss predicted today his subcommittee will recommend against a Pentagon plan to transfer the New York office of Stars and Stripes to Arlington, Va.

The Pentagon said Monday it has agreed to delay the transfer, as requested by Moss, until the House Foreign Relations and Government Information subcommittee studies the situation.

Moss, D-Calif., said the committee staff has been investigating the matter for 10 days. The subcommittee probably won't be organized until next week, he said.

The four-man New York office of Stars and Stripes processes reports of The Associated Press and United Press International for overseas editions published in Germany and Japan.

Pentagon sources have said the proposed transfer of the New York bureau to the Armed Forces News Bureau in Arlington is for purposes of economy and efficiency and not for news management.



ALASKAN BIRTHDAY is commemorated in a new eight-cent stamp to be issued March 30, first day of ceremonies observing the 100th anniversary of the purchase of Alaska from Russia. The vertical stamp reproduces an Indian totem, and is a line drawing in white against a dark brown background.

Former Houstonian Is Named Professor

Dr. William A. Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hoffman, Houstonia, was promoted to full professor of chemistry at Denison University, Granville, Ohio, according to A. Blair Knapp, president.

Dr. Hoffman, chairman of the chemistry department, holds a B.S. degree cum laude from Missouri Valley College and M. S. and Ph.D. degrees from Purdue University. He taught for four years at Purdue as a graduate assistant, one year at Wabash College, and five years at Wesleyan University in Connecticut. He has held research grants from the National Science Foundation and Research Corp., a privately endowed foundation in New York City.

Initiate Talks To Prevent Defense Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said Tuesday the United States and the Soviet Union have initiated talks aimed at preventing a costly race for ballistic missile defenses.

President Johnson and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara have said such an anti-ballistic missile system race would result in no advantage for either side.

The President said last month the United States would take up the question with the Soviets.

Hal Boyle's Column

Columnist Offers 'Free' Advice On Good Living

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Now hear this, young man.

One of the chores of a columnist is to tell youth how to live. No one knows just why columnists are entitled to this privilege, but if they don't exercise it at least once a year they are likely to have their licenses revoked.

So, young fellow, here is my free advice for 1967 on how to wrest the best from life and avoid the pitfalls of a trap-filled world:

If you are idealistic and yearn to improve the human race, try to get the job done by the time you are 25. If you haven't, then concentrate on improving yourself.

Sleep on a firm bed. Half the people who wake up tired do so because their bed is too soft.

The other chief source of fatigue is boredom. To avoid boredom make change a routine thing in your life. Never spend two days in a row exactly alike, even if you only eat in a different restaurant or go home by a different route.

Always dry between your toes thoroughly after shower. You can't go far on sore feet.

If you are unable for one reason or another to marry your employer's daughter, marry a girl with a merry mind and a responsible heart. These qualities endure long after beauty does.

Never drink anything except milk or water at lunch until your 60th birthday Avoid drinking hard liquor before dusk or after midnight.

If you play golf, play it on weekends. The young fellows who sneak out to the country club during the week usually wind up bums.

Ask for a pay rise every 18 months—whether you need it or not. There is no surer way to find out how you stand with the firm. If you get turned down twice, better look for another job.

Don't quit a good job, however, just because you are piqued with your boss. The chances are fairly good that in time he will retire, get fired himself or be sidelined by an ulcer.

Take as little medicine as possible. Too much medicine probably keeps as many people sick as it makes well.

If you learn early that you are inept at handling money, let your wife handle the family income. Then, if you both wind up in the poorhouse, you'll at least have someone besides yourself to blame.

Have at least two children, or adopt a couple. And keep a pet cat, dog, or goldfish in the home. Children and pets do more than anything to keep a household sane—and in an uproar.

If you must gamble, bet on the one thing you can't afford to lose—yourself. It is foolish to bet on a race horse that could have no possible interest in your welfare.

Save 10 per cent of what you earn until get your house paid for, and after that save 15 per cent.

Take your wife out at least one evening a week, even if you only stroll around the block together.

Read a book—new or old, good or bad—at least once a month.

Eat sparingly. Every time you eat fried foods follow them with an ounce of castor oil. In time this will cure you of eating fried foods at all.

Whenever you feel tense or depressed, go for a three-mile walk, sit down and write a poem, or take a vacation.

Don't expect too much of other people, and don't depend on good luck. As Jim Farley observed, "Things don't just happen, they are made to happen."

See as many sunrises as you do sunsets.

Any young fellow of 21 who follows these tips and isn't happy and hale at 65 can bring his complaints to me. By then I'll be 100 years old—and probably have even better advice.

Top-Less Wedding In Night Club

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A 19-year-old go-go dancer was topless for her wedding but the justice of peace who married her later said he wasn't aware that she didn't even have on her pasties.

With a rock 'n' roll band blaring out the wedding march, Trisha Beall became the wife of Vernoy Dale Shaddix, 23, at the 10 o'clock floor show Monday night at French the Beachcomber's Club on Padre Island.

She wore a white veil and a traditional white wedding gown which from the waist up had no front although her back was covered.

Her maid of honor, Jovanna Masch, another topless go-go dancer, wore a similar gown in blue. Neither wore pasties.

The brief civil ceremony was performed by Peter Dunn, a justice of the peace.

Asked later what he thought about the fact neither the bride nor the maid of honor wore pasties, Dunn exclaimed: "Gee, I didn't know that they didn't have them on.

"I left my glasses at home. I must be getting old. Maybe we ought to do it over again."

Approximately eighty persons packed the tiny night club for the ceremony.

The bride was given away by club owner Gene French. Bartender Danny Vella served as best man.

The bridegroom, French and Vella wore black tuxedoes with gleaming white shirts.

The bride had to do a late go-go show at the club and then the newlyweds retired to a nearby motel.

The honeymoon will have to be brief. The new Mrs. Shaddix is due back at the club for the regular floor shows tonight.

Ready-Made Forum Not Available

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell won't find a ready-made forum in Congress if he decides to charge other House members with irregularities, a member of the special nine-man committee investigating Powell said today.

Rep. Vernon W. Thomson, R-Wis., told a reporter that the machinery presently doesn't exist for Powell or anyone else to bring charges of wrong-doing against a congressman.

Powell, barred from taking his seat pending the outcome of the probe into his qualifications, has said he has "done nothing that they (other congressmen) haven't done." He has threatened to name names.

Thomson, a former Wisconsin governor and attorney general, said it would be difficult to get a congressional hearing on any charges Powell might level.

As it now stands, Thomson said, a request would have to be made to the House for creation of a select committee to investigate such charges. Such a committee is difficult to create, he said, though one was established to probe Powell.

The special committee will hold its first meeting Wednesday and Powell has said he will be present, with counsel, to hear the charges raised against him. He didn't indicate whether he would testify.
